Witness in Cable Probe Tells of Interference

PUT THRU CENSOR, HE SAYS

Wire Brings Foreign Trade Growth, Also Shown

WASHINGTON — (By Associated Press)—All American cable messages leaving Great Britain are now being held up by the British naval intelligence authorities. Newcomb H. Carlton, president of the Western Union Telegraph Company, testified Thursday when recalled before a special senate committee investigating cables and the advisability of legislative action affecting them.

The new British requirements have been imposed, Mr. Carlton said, for the purpose of throwing upon "internal disturbances in Great Britain, and I presume more particularly with reference to Ireland and Bolshevism."

Mr. Carlton added that he was not sure whether inbound cables from the United States also were being held for examination.

FOREIGN TRADE GROWTH

WASHINGTON — (By United Press)—Growth of American foreign commerce and trade has definitely followed the extension of the field of the American press associations and for that reason, much greater facilities for transmission of American news abroad should be provided, W. W. Hawkins, president of the United Press, told the senate committee on cables Thursday.

Hawkins also advocated the use of the navy's radio for carrying of press dispatches to supplement the cable service.

He told the story of the United Press opening of the South American field, as the first American press association to carry American news into that continent.

"The United Press was the first to go to South America," said Hawkins, "and operated there a year before any other American association went in. There is a great and growing appetite for American news."

"When we went in, there was a great dearth of American news in South America. Now all the Rio papers carry large volumes of American news. The United Press serves three morning and two afternoon papers there."

Hawkins said he would increase the amount of news sent to South America by 2,000 words daily, if he could get the facilities, explaining that it is not now possible to get more than 2,300 words a day by the All-America Cable and something over 3,000 a day by the Barbados-Miami cable was favored by Hawkins, who said the criticism that it connected at Barbados with a British line could also be applied to transmission of news from London by All-America cable.

Greater communication with the Orient would be an influence for peace and good understanding between the United States and Japan, he said.

The practically total lack of American news in the Orient is one reason for misunderstandings between the people of Japan and the United States, he declared.

3 BOYS ARRESTED

Charged With Theft of Cigars From Lima Store

Three Lima young men, were lodged behind the bars at the city prison late Thursday afternoon, charged with petty larceny.

The young men are: George Sain, 19, of 123 N. Perry-st., who was penniless when arrested but well dressed and who said he did not have a job; Harry Chesney, 23, of 821 W. High-st., and Herbert Laffie, 19, of 1024 E. Wayne-st.

Officers Billings and Reed arrested the trio at the Warfield cigar store, E. High-st., from where it is believed the cigars were stolen.

The boys, when arrested, had a partly filled box of high priced cigars of the same brand as those missing from the store, police say.

OVER 300 HEIRS ARE TOLD THEIR ESTATE IS UNDER TWO CITIES

CEDAR RAPIDS, Ia. — (Gus George, and Milton Baker, Charles Hensley and Charles Stahlan, all cousins and employees of the Northwestern railroad, and Mrs. G. W. Hamilton were notified by a firm of Chillicothe, O., lawyers that they were joint heirs together with about 300 others to 5,000 acres of land on which the city of Chillicothe stands, and also to 600 acres in one of the suburbs of Philadelphia.

The land was given to a man named Baker by the government for his services in the revolutionary war and the war of 1812, and has been under a ninety-nine year lease which expired a few days ago. The local heirs were informed the case must be settled in January.

TABLES TURNED IN KIDNAPING CASE

Child-Stealing Charge Against St. Marys Mother Withdrawn

ST. MARYS — (Special)—Sometimes the pursuer becomes the pursued. "Twice so in the case of Mrs. Eliza Howe, wife of Elbert C. Howe, St. Marys, arrested by Sheriff Ora L. Hinton on charges of kidnapping a train at Kankakee, Ill., with her little daughters, Zola S. and Dana, 12, on a charge of kidnapping the children.

DIVORCE SET ASIDE

Proceedings in the court of Justice of the Peace W. H. Swift at St. Marys, came to a sudden close Wednesday when Mrs. Howe produced a certified copy of a court decree, dated November 20, 1920, in common pleas court, Miami-co., Kansas, setting aside a divorce granted to Elbert C. Howe from Mrs. Eliza Howe, at St. Marys, Kan., on March 18, 1920, and giving the care and custody of the children to the father.

Advantaging the situation to bring confusion to the prosecution in the case, Mrs. Howe, charged with child-stealing, quickly assumed the role of prosecutor and proved that she was being persecuted. That she had rights as the mother of the children to their possession was recognized and Mrs. Howe was dismissed and started Wednesday for Kankakee, Ill., with the children, where she will make her home with her brother, W. M. Mook, a foundry moulder.

CHARGE WITHDRAWN

The charge of child-stealing against Mrs. Howe was withdrawn upon condition that she file no counter-charge against Howe on the ground of unlawful arrest.

The Harwich came as a complete surprise to the prosecution. Mrs. Howe stated that her husband refused to permit her to see the children, after he had obtained a divorce decree, carrying with it the custody of their offspring, although the little girls preferred living with their mother.

Thus came the culmination of a sensational incident of last Friday when the Howe children disappeared from school in St. Marys, followed by a chase across three states by Sheriff Hinton, ending at Kankakee, Ill., where Mrs. Howe and the children were intercepted, the sheriff rescuing Kankakee in advance of the trio, as they stopped for a visit with relatives in Marion, Ind.

PEOPLE ASKED TO REBEL AGAINST PROFITEERING IN CHRISTMAS TREES

WASHINGTON — (By Associated Press)—A dollar should buy a family Christmas tree and 50 cents an apartment size symbol of Yuletide spirit, Charles Kethrop Pack, president of the American Forestry association, declared here Thursday in a statement calling upon the American people to rebel against Christmas tree profiteers.

"Last year," he said, "trees were thrown in the river by car-loads at Pittsburgh, Cleveland and New York City."

It will take about four million trees to bring Christmas joy to the nation's little folks this year, Mr. Pack said and no harm, but rather good will come to the forests thru scientific cutting.

"The great harm comes in the profiteering element that we saw so much of this season in 1919," he said. "In many cases prices charged were out of all proportion to the labor involved and to legitimate profit."

4 NATIONS ADDED TO WORLD BODY

Costa Rica, Finland and Luxembourg Among New Members

FRANCE SILENT ON EX-FOE

Refuses to Vote on Admission of Bulgaria

GENEVA — (By Associated Press)—Four new nations were made members of the league of nations by the assembly of the league here Thursday. They were Bulgaria, Costa Rica, Finland and Luxembourg. France and Australia abstained from voting when the admission of Bulgaria was before the assembly for decision.

Rene Viviani, the head of the French delegation, declared it had no objection to Bulgaria as a member, but preferred not to vote in view of the incompleteness of the information regarding Bulgaria's fitness.

Thirty-five states voted affirmatively when the balloting took place, and Australia joined France in not recording her vote.

COSTA RICA ADMITTED

The question of admitting Costa Rica was the next on the day's agenda. Dr. Nansen of Norway explained that the only doubt in his mind was whether Costa Rica was not too small a country, but in view of the membership of its neighbor Panama, he decided Costa Rica could not be excluded on that score.

Antonio Huenues of Chile and Senor Restrepo of Colombia, asked that the assembly vote unanimously in admitting Costa Rica.

It was stated before the voting took place that France had no objection to Bulgaria in particular, but would not vote because there was some analogy between the cases of Bulgaria and Germany. It was asserted the delegation desired to maintain a consistent attitude on questions relative to qualifications of applicants for admission.

BALTI STATE QUESTION

Debate was expected when the report was submitted relative to the admission of the Baltic and Caucasian states was to be considered. N. W. Rowell of Canada gave notice to the committee that Canada, as a Pacific ocean power, took a split in the Russian question. He declared that question had been raised in its entirety by the proposed relations between the league and the states carved out of the former Russian empire.

Altho the Baltic states had the full sympathy of Canada, he asserted, the situation in Russia might change, and the league might find itself faced by a new government claiming access to the sea, in which eventually the league would incur grave responsibility.

It was planned, if the assembly finished the election of new members soon enough, to take up the league and budget appropriations for the coming year, which have been somewhat criticized at committee meetings with regard to salaries of men connected with the secretariat.

SCRATCH BY FOOD CAUSE OF INJURY TO NOTED TENOR

ENRICO CARUSO, noted tenor, is singing again and his voice apparently has not suffered from the bursting of a tiny blood vessel recently while he was warbling in "Elixir d'Amore" in New York. According to Dr. Philip Horowitz, Caruso's physician, the blood vessel which burst had been scratched by a morsel of food. The above diagram shows the location of this blood vessel and important parts of the throat. 1—Upper nasal resonance chamber, a sounding board. 2—Middle nasal cavity, a resonance chamber. 3—Lower nasal channel. 4—The uvula, or soft palate. 5—The epiglottis. 6—The great muscle which controls the tongue. 7—The larynx, or "voice box." 8—The upper part of the esophagus. DE VALERA DEFIES LLOYD-GEORGE

Won't Ask Premiers Consent to Return to Ireland

WILL "SLIP" OUT OF U. S.

Hope of Irish Peace is Received in London

NEW YORK — (By United Press)—Eamonn De Valera, "president of the Irish republic," intimated Thursday that when he was ready to return to Ireland, he would slip out of the United States without a passport, just as he came in.

Commenting on remarks that Premier Lloyd-George might let him return to participate in peace negotiations, De Valera said he did not ask Lloyd-George's consent before leaving Ireland, and that he would not ask his consent before going back.

PEACE HOPE REVIVED

LONDON — (By United Press)—Hope of Irish peace revived slightly Thursday.

The wave of violence, reaching its crest with the destruction of Cork's business center, had subsided, and moderates were in hope of beginning negotiations before extremists broke forth.

There were some outbreaks, including shooting of Canon Magner, parish priest at Dumanaway. The priest, once a nationalist, was said to have played a non-political role for some time. One report said he was killed accidentally by soldiers pursuing Sinn Feinists. Another report was that he had intervened when a Black and Tan policeman "held a loose cannon." The policeman was said to have shot him down without warning.

Meanwhile, there was reviving interest in peace negotiations. Some of this was due to the letter of Father O'Flanagan to Premier Lloyd-George. Lloyd-George, while rejecting O'Flanagan's offer, left the way open for O'Flanagan to continue negotiations.

Business is reviving in Ireland as a result of reports that railway workers will no longer operate the roads. Only in the southwestern districts is there paralysis. In many cities shopkeepers have boarded their windows and sought the comparative safety of the open country.

In Cork, the exodus of business men has left a serious problem in the feeding of the population forced to remain. It was believed the military might have to undertake some method of provisioning.

ANTI-STRIKE BILL PASSES SENATE

Measure is Adopted Without Debate or Record Vote

WASHINGTON — (By Associated Press)—The Pinckney anti-strike bill was passed Thursday by the senate without debate or a record vote. The measure, which now goes to the upper house, provides that interference with interstate commerce shall be a penalty.

Penalties for combinations interfering with interstate commerce either by agreements between operators or those of employers are provided by the bill which was introduced by Senator Pinckney, Republican, Washington, following elimination of the anti-strike provisions from the transportation act when it was pending in conference.

The Pinckney bill was reached today during routine consideration of the regular senate calendar, with only a small percentage of senators in their seats. No senator objected to its consideration and without discussion or a roll call, the bill was passed.

GERMAN SCORNE BY U. S. ENVOY

American Ambassador Refuses to Meet Berlin Agent

PARIS — (By Associated Press)—Hugh C. Wallace, the American ambassador, Wednesday night refused to meet Wilhelm Mayer Von Kaufbeuren, the German ambassador, because the United States still is technically in a state of war with Germany.

The incident occurred at an official dinner to the diplomatic corps by Raoul Perot, president of the chamber of deputies, and his wife, Ambassador Wallace, dean of the diplomatic corps in the absence of the Italian ambassador, and Mrs. Wallace were the guests of honor.

WALLACE REFUSES

Pierre De Fouquieres, of the foreign office, known as the "introducer of ambassadors," approached Mr. Wallace in the reception room before the dinner, and said:

"The German ambassador desires to be presented to you."

"Can't you forget it?" inquired Mr. Wallace, who knows M. Fouquieres very well.

"He is standing just behind me," replied M. Fouquieres. "He is very persistent. I did not wish to embarrass you."

"Tell him," said Mr. Wallace, "that I refuse to meet him."

GERMAN HEARS ANSWER

The German ambassador was standing so near that he heard Mr. Wallace's reply and M. Fouquieres repeated the response to him.

News of the incident spread among the 115 guests, who included many of the most notable men in the public life of France. Ambassador Wallace was surrounded by persons congratulating him, among whom were Philippe Berthelot, political director of the French foreign office, and Baron Hardinge, the British foreign ambassador to France.

The episode was much talked of in political circles in Paris, where it was commented that the American ambassador could not yet meet socially the ambassador of a country with which the United States is at war.

NEW MENACE FOR BOOTLEGGERS

May Be Required to Pay Dow Tax, As Well As Fine

$40,000 IN ONE COUNTY

Violators in Past Six Months Liable, Mayor Says

"Those who have been convicted in Lima in the past six months for violations of the law against bootlegging, should shiver," Mayor F. A. Barkhardt said Thursday. According to information afforded the mayor, in such cases the convicted parties can be required to pay the Dow tax which was collected from saloon keepers before drink importations were outlawed by the prohibition laws. The liquor tax law providing for the payment of $1,000 yearly has not been repealed, the mayor stated, is still effective and can be applied to bootleggers.

$40,000 COLLECTED It is reported that in Stark-co $40,000 has been collected by the application of the Dow law in cases where persons have been convicted of selling liquor contrary to law, in addition to fines levied for violations.

"I understand," the mayor said Thursday, "that in such cases, where the convicted party is not financially responsible, that the owner of the property where the violation of the law against the sale of liquor took place can be held for the payment of the tax, in the form of a lien against the property, certified by the county auditor."

CHIEF HAD BIG LIST "If that's true," said Chief of Police O. J. Roush, who was present in the mayor's office at the time, "I can furnish quite a list of names of parties convicted during the past six months, from which the county auditor might collect a tidy little sum."

DESERTERS NOT SOUGHT, CHARGE

U. S. Allowing Draft Evaders Go Free, Legion Claims

WASHINGTON — (By Associated Press) — Charges that the war department is taking no action looking to the prosecution of draft evaders and deserters were filed with the house judiciary committee Thursday by representatives of service men's organizations. The committee is considering a bill to extend the statute of limitation from three to six years for prosecution of violators of the selective service act.

William G. Murdock, department adjutant of the American Legion for Pennsylvania, and H. H. Raeger of the legion's executive committee, declared that the war department "has done nothing but promise prosecutions" of more than 150,000 draft evaders and deserters under military regulations. They also charged that the department of justice was making little progress in dealing with another 150,000 men whom they claimed had violated the service act, but who were punishable under criminal statutes rather than military laws.

Mr. Murdock submitted a letter signed by Adjutant General Harris to former Provost Marshal General Crowder in which he said that the war department had records of 559,000 deserters falling under military regulations. Of these the letter said, 168,738 had been dealt with under military regulations prior to February 28, 1918. There remained, however, 173,811 individual cases of which the war department had made no disposition prior to September 1, according to the letter.

Chairman Volstead of the committee, said he believed the war department should be called upon for information concerning its disposition of these cases. The committee, however, left the matter in the chairman's hands, and he said later he expected to write to Secretary Baker for information.

From Our Readers

Editor, The Lima News:

In a little frame house inside the city limits, live a family of five. Although this building lacks paint, the siding is broken, the roof leaks, and it is a sorry shelter, it is the habitation of this little group of struggling humans. The father, said to have been one of the never-do-well-classes, has been dead three years, and the mother is still paying on installments for funeral expenses. This little dilapidated building, several blocks from the side walk, and on a muddy, undrained street, is the home and all it implies to the mother and children.

The cheerful face that greets two of the children on return from school, or the young boy who picks up such light tasks he is able to perform when he is not too ill, or her youngest child which the Lima Day nursery has so tenderly cared for while she has been only the heavy heart as she contemplates the future. Of nourishing food there is scarcely enough. Of clothes, the well patched exterior hides only the insufficient undergarments, and shoes are scarcely worthy of the name.

How to pay the rent for this home? How to keep the children contented, clothed and fed and what of the future? A constant thought, and enough to strike terror to a strong heart.

Citizens of Lima: what are your means? What are you doing for this family and hundreds of others of the like and possibly less fortunate. Are you stopping long enough from your mercantile pursuits, the thought of the latest new model car, the accumulation of wealth, to give thought to the less fortunate? Has your superior genius been granted you a selfish life? Has your environment that placed you on the road to so called success made you selfish? Do you owe nothing to your fellow man? Do you know you are warping your own life by not heeding the problems, of the less fortunate being? If you don't, then wake up and try to acquire the habit of responsibility to your fellow man.

We need you and your cooperation. Your interest is worth even more to them than your money, yet they need both. If you have not yet learned the pleasure of service, begin your schooling now.

Your success in life will never be measured by your bank account. It will be by personality alone, and what you are able to do for others. Help others to help themselves. Help the worker of the WELFARE drive, not only with your cash but by patient earnest effort.

Welfare Worker.

ENGINEER URGES QUICK ACTION

Suggests Decision be Made Now on 1921 Paving Program

Urging that it is high time a move is being made if it is intended to do street paving work the coming season, City Engineer Vaughn Miller addressed Thursday a letter to Service Director Elmer McClain, reminding the latter that it is now coming the time of the year when the city should decide on the paving program for 1921 so that sale of the work may be accomplished in February or March. "This is true of all public improvements," Miller states.

"I would suggest," the engineer adds, "along this line an early meeting with the proper council committee to determine what action they desire to take relative to the passage of the legislation for various contemplated improvements."

NOTICES GOING TO TAX DELINQUENTS

Quarterly income taxes due Thursday are being overlooked by many Lima persons subjected to the tax according to S. E. Heer, deputy internal revenue collector, who was busy Thursday filing out notices to delinquents to mail their statements immediately.

Mr. Heer was unable to calculate the full amount unpaid, but said that it would likely run into several thousands of dollars.

About 30 statements to delinquents are being sent out daily, according to Mr. Heer, to Lima persons affected by the government's revenue.

STATE SENATOR IS LEPER VICTIM

Montana Solon Is Quarantined
on His Farm

HELENA, Mon.—Montana has a State Senator who is stricken with leprosy. He is Senator O. G. Willett of Alberton, Mineral County. He served in the Philippines from 1902 to 1904 and contracted the disease. He was married in 1917 and went to the State Legislature the same year. In the Fall of that year he became ill and his malady was diagnosed as leprosy by the Mayo clinic at Rochester, Minn. Now he is not inclined to accept the newly discovered Chaulmoogra oil treatment recommended by the United States Public Health Service. It was offered to him by Dr. W. F. Cogswell, secretary of the State Board of Health.

On his return from Alberton, where he visited Senator Willett on his own ranch, where the Senator is in quarantine, Mr. Cogswell said the Senator explained he was dependent on his claims as "Divine healing" for a cure.

Mr. Cogswell said he believes, however, it will not take the Senator long to realize that the age of miracles is passed and that he will accept the Government treatment. Dr. Cogswell said Senator Willett was not suffering, but that the disease has progressed since he visited with him a year ago.

WON'T REMOVE BODY OF SOLDIER BURIED WITH HIS SWEETHEART

PARIS — A strange story comes from Nancy, where the family of a soldier whose home is in Beaune made an unsuccessful effort to have his body returned to his native town.

Early in the war the soldier, who was in the trenches near Nancy, received a forty-eight-hour leave and went to Nancy to visit his sweetheart. The Germans began bombarding the city with long-range guns.

One of the shells killed the soldier and the young girl as they were seated on a bench with their arms entwined about each other. The fragments were buried in one grave. The girl's parents refused to have the bodies exhumed on the ground that it is now impossible to tell them apart.

IMPORTANT TO ALL WOMEN READERS OF THIS PAPER

Thousands upon thousands of women have kidney or bladder trouble and never suspect it.

Women's complaints often prove to be nothing else but kidney trouble, or the result of kidney or bladder disease.

If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition, they may cause the other organs to become diseased.

You may suffer from the back, headache and loss of ambition.

Poor health makes you nervous, irritable and may be despondent; it makes any one so.

But hundreds of women claim that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, by restoring health to the kidneys proved to be just the remedy needed to overcome such conditions.

Many sent for a sample bottle to see what Swamp-Root, the great kidney liver and bladder medicine will do for them. By enclosing ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., you may receive sample size bottle by Parcel Post. You can purchase medium and large size bottles at all drug stores.

NEW MENACE FOR BOOTLEGGERS

May be Required to Pay Dew Tax, As Well As Fine

$20,000 IN ONE COUNTY

Violators in Past Six Months Liable, Mayor Says

Those who have been convicted in Lima in the past six months for violations of the law against bootlegging, should shiver. Mayor F. A. Burkhardt said Thursday. According to information afforded the mayor, in such cases the convicted parties can be required to pay the Dew tax, which was collected from saloon keepers before drink emporiums were outlawed by the prohibition laws. The liquor tax law providing for the payment of $1,000 yearly has not been repealed, the mayor stated, is still effective and can be applied to bootleggers.

It is reported that in Stark-co $40,000 has been collected by the application of the Dew law in cases where persons have been convicted of selling liquor contrary to law, in addition to fines levied for violations.

"I understand," the mayor said Thursday, "that in such cases, where the convicted party is not financially responsible, that the owner of the property where the violation of the law against the sale of liquor took place or be held for the payment of the tax, in the form of a lien against the property, certified by the county auditor."

CHIEF HAD BIG LIST
"If that's true," said Chief of Police J. J. Routh, who was present in the mayor's office at the time, "can furnish quite a list of names of parties convicted during the past six months, from which the county auditor might collect a tidy little sum."

DESERTERS NOT SOUGHT, CHARGE

U. S. Allowing Draft Evaders Go Free, Legion Claims

WASHINGTON — (By Associated Press) — Charges that the war department is taking no action looking to the prosecution of draft evaders and deserters were filed with the house judiciary committee Thursday by representatives of service men's organizations. The committee is considering a bill to extend the statute of limitation from three to six years for prosecution of violators of the selective service act.

William G. Murdock, department adjutant of the American Legion for Pennsylvania, and H. H. Raeger of the legion's executive committee, declared that the war department has done nothing but promise prosecutions of more than 150,000 draft evaders and deserters under military regulations. They also charged that the department of justice was making little progress in dealing with another 150,000 men whom they claimed had violated the service act, but were punishable under criminal statutes rather than military laws.

Mr. Murdock submitted a letter signed by Adjutant General Harris to former Provost Marshal General Crowder in which he said that the war department was failing to enforce military regulations. Of these the letter said, 163,738 had been dealt with under military regulations prior to February 28, 1919. There remained, however, 173,911 individual cases of which the war department had made no disposition prior to last September 1, according to the letter.

Charmian Volstead of the committee, said he believed the war department should be called upon for information concerning its disposition of these cases. The committee, however, left the matter in the chairman's hands, and he said later, he expected to write to Secretary Baker for information.

FIRST ARREST OF THE WEEK MADE THURSDAY

Tom Mills, hawker anywhere, was the first man arrested by police since Monday. He was charged with drunkenness and when arraigned before Judge Emmett Jackson in criminal court Thursday was fined $25.

When asked what he had been drinking, Mills confessed that he had fallen a victim to old Jamsten ginger.

Capt. Dawson arrested him Wednesday night at the police station, where he was piloted by a stranger who refused to give his name to police.

NOTED NATURALIST MAIL AND HEARTY "PEDALS HIS OWN"

Luther Burbank out for a bicycle ride.

Luther Burbank, the well-known naturalist, now past the three-score-and-ten mark, attributes his good health to his early life on a farm and to continued outdoor exercise and recreation. He is noted as the originator of various new apples, peaches, nuts, berries and other valuable tree fruits, flowers, grasses, and vegetables, on his experimental farm at Santa Rosa, Cal. He spends much of his recreation time on his bicycle.

From Our Readers

Editor, The Lima News:
In a little frame house inside the city limits, live a family of five. Altho this building lacks paint, the siding is broken, the roof leaks, and it is a sorry shelter, is the habitation of this little group of struggling humanity. The father, said to have been one of the brave-do-ers of the war, has been dead three years, and the mother is still paying on installments for funeral expenses. This little dilapidated building, several blocks from the side walk, and on a muddy, undrained street, is the home and all it implies to the mother and children.

The cheerful face that greets two of the children on return from school, or the young boy who picks up such light tasks he is able to perform when he is not too ill, or her youngest child which the Lima Day nursery has so tenderly cared for while he has been hidden only the heavy heart as the contemplates the future. Of nourishing food there is scarcely enough. Of clothes, the well patched exterior hides only the insufficient undergarments, and shoes are scarcely worthy of the name.

How to pay the rent for this home? How to keep the children contented, clothed and fed and what of the future? A constant thought and enough to strike terror to a strong heart.

Citizens of Lima; what are your means? What are you doing for this family, and for hundreds of others of the like and possible less fortunate. Are you stopping long enough from your mercantile pursuits, the thought of the latest new model car, the accumulation of wealth to give thought to the less fortunate? Has your superior sense been granted you to live a self life? Live your environment that placed you on the road to so called success made you selfish? Do you owe nothing to you fellow man? Do you know you are warping your own life by not heading the problem, of the less fortunate? If you don't, then wake up and try to secure the habit of responsibility to your fellow man.

We need you and your cooperation. Your interest is worth even more to them than your money, yet they need both. If you have not yet learned the pleasure of service, begin your schooling now.

Your success in life will never be measured by your bank account. It will be by personality alone, and what you are able to do for others. Help others to help themselves. Help the worker. If the WELFARE drive not only with your cash but by patient earnest effort.

KILLED IN CRASH ON CROSSING

Westminster Grocer Hurtled to Death by Train

JAMES DUDGEON IS VICTIM

Erie Train Kills Horses and Wrecks Carriage

James Dudgeon, 58, grocery merchant, Westminster, was instantly killed when struck by a west-bound passenger train on the Erie railroad, at 11:30 o'clock Thursday morning.

Dudgeon drove a team of horses onto a crossing directly in front of the approaching train, which does not stop at Westminster. He apparently did not realize the train was bearing down upon him.

HORSES ARE KILLED
The horses were killed and the carriage is a complete wreck. Dudgeon's grocery is located near the railroad station in Westminster. The accident occurred at the road crossing, 300 feet west of the station.

The Eckert ambulance was called and representatives of the United States National Bank in Lima left at once for the scene of the accident. Dudgeon was married and was the father of several grown children.

NEW OFFICERS OF HOSPITAL BOARD

Women Elect Mrs. J. E. Grosjean President—Collect Big Sum

At a meeting held Wednesday, the Women's Board of the City Hospital reviewed what they had accomplished during the past year and elected new officers for the ensuing year.

It was announced by Mrs. L. W. Page, outgoing treasurer, that the board collected $2,710.32 in cash thru card parties, food sales, entertainments of various kinds and tag days. They estimated that canned goods, and all other gifts collected on donation day were valued at $1,000.

During the past year the women have installed a library of over 200 books at the hospital, consisting of reading matter that is suitable for all classes of patients. The books and cases are valued at $250.

The officers whose terms expired Wednesday are: Mrs. A. S. Bower, president; Mrs. Clarence Miller, vice president; J. E. Dexter, secretary, and Mrs. W. L. Page, treasurer.

Mrs. Bower was a member of the board for the past eight years and occupied the office of president for two years. She is one of the most active workers for the municipal situation and is deserving of much credit for what has been accomplished by the women.

New officers elected are: Mrs. J. E. Grosjean, president; Mrs. Max Michael, vice president; Mrs. J. E. Dexter, secretary, and Mrs. Walter Noble, treasurer.

The $2,710.32 taken in cash by efforts of the board has been expended for sheets, pillow cases, blankets, spreads, toweling and many other necessary articles for the comfort and cleanliness of the patients.

ENGINEER URGES QUICK ACTION

Suggests Decision be Made Now on 1921 Paving Program

Urging that it is high time a move is being made if it is intended to do street paving work the coming season, Engineer Vanish Miller addressed Thursday a letter to Service Director Elmer McClain, reminding the latter that it is now coming the time of the year when the city should decide on the paving program for 1921 so that sale of the work may be completed before February or March.

"All public improvements," Miller states.

"I would suggest," the engineer adds, "along this line an early meeting with the proper council committee to determine what action they desire to take relative to the passage of the legislation for various contemplated improvements."

The engineer's office is authority for the statement that there are about 19 streets for the improvement of which property owners have filed petitions and for which the legislation is incomplete. The surveys for these improvements have been completed.

NOTICES GOING TO TAX DELINQUENTS

Quarterly income taxes due Thursday are being collected by man who is going to subject to the law according to S. B. Herr, deputy internal revenue collector, who was busy Thursday mailing out notices to delinquents to file their statements immediately.

Mr. Herr was unable to calculate the full amount unpaid, but said that it would likely run into several thousands of dollars.

About 30 statements to delinquents are being sent out daily, according to Mr. Herr, to Lima persons affected by the government's revenue.

STATE SENATOR IS LEPER VICTIM

Montana Solon Is Quarantined on His Farm

HELENA, Mon.—Montana has a State Senator who is stricken with leprosy. He is Senator O. G. Willett of Alberton, Blaine County. He served in the Philippines from 1902 to 1904 and contracted the disease. He was married in 1917 and went to the State Legislature the same year. In the fall of that year he became ill and his malady was diagnosed as leprosy by the Mayo clinic at Rochester, Minn. Now he is not inclined to accept the newly discovered Chaulmoogra oil treatment recommended by the United States Public Health Service. It was offered to him by Dr. W. F. Cogswell, secretary of the State Board of Health.

On his return from Alberton, where he visited Senator Willett on his own ranch, where the Senator is in quarantine, Dr. Cogswell said the Senator explained he was dependent on the claims is "Divine healing" for a cure.

Dr. Cogswell said he believes, however, it will not take the Senator long to realize that the age of miracles is passed and that he will accept the Government treatment. Dr. Cogswell said Senator Willett was not suffering, but that the disease has progressed since he visited with him a year ago.

WON'T REMOVE BODY OF SOLDIER BURIED WITH HIS SWEETHEART

PARIS — A strange story comes from Nancy, where the family of a soldier whose home is in Beaune made an unsuccessful effort to have his body returned to his native town.

Early in the war the soldier, who was in the trenches near Nancy, received a forty-eight-hour leave and went to Nancy to visit his sweetheart. The Germans began bombarding the city with long-range guns.

One of the shells killed the soldier and the young girl as they were seated on a bench with their arms entwined about each other. The fragments were buried in one grave. The girl's parents refused to have the bodies exhumed on the ground that it is now impossible to tell them apart.

IMPORTANT TO ALL WOMEN READERS OF THIS PAPER

Thousands upon thousands of women have kidney or bladder trouble and never suspect it.

Women's complaints often prove to be nothing else but kidney trouble, or the result of kidney or bladder disease.

If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition, they may cause the other organs to become diseased. You may suffer pain in the back, headache, dizziness, etc. Poor health makes you nervous, irritable and may be dependent; it makes any one so.

But hundreds of women claim that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, by restoring health to the kidneys proved to be just the remedy needed to overcome such conditions.

Many send for a sample bottle to see what Swamp-Root will do for their kidney liver and bladder trouble. By enclosing ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., you may receive sample size bottle by Parcel Post. You can purchase medium and large size bottles at all drug stores.

CUT IN BUDGET OF BILLION ASKED

Houston Estimates Attacked by Republican Leader Mondell

"WASTE OF PEOPLE'S MONEY"

Congress' Duty to Call Halt,
He Declares

WASHINGTON — (By Associated Press) — Urging "rigid economy" in appropriations for government expenses during the next fiscal year, in order to lighten the tax burden, Representative Mondell, of Wyoming, Republican leader, declared in the house Thursday that the total estimate of $4,653,800,000 submitted by the secretary of the treasury should be reduced by approximately $1,400,000,000. This reduction, he said, must be effected chiefly by a drastic scaling down in estimates for the army and navy and also for sundry civil expenses, the total of which he pointed out, exceeded current appropriations by more than $911,000,000.

ADMINISTRATION HIT
Criticism of the administration for the "unfathomable inconsistency" in the estimates submitted to congress and the "pleas for economy" made by the president and the secretary of the treasury, Mr. Mondell declared he would "leave it to others to properly characterize these estimates."

"Two years after the war," the Republican leader added, "when the world outside our borders is largely bankrupt and everybody is praying for reduction of armaments the administration asks for an appropriation of more than $1,414,000,000 for the army, navy and fortifications, or five and a half times the highest peace time appropriation of 1916."

"MAY BE SWOLLEN"
Pointing out that current deficiencies were not included in this total, Mr. Mondell declared these "may be swollen indefinitely" if the war department continued its policy of recruiting the army up to full strength, contrary to the understanding, he said, that it should not be increased above the "total of 178,000 men contemplated by the appropriations," declaring this action in "entire harmony" with the attitude of the war and some other departments had assumed toward congress in this administration.

Mr. Mondell said it had become the duty of congress to take action that would prevent such squandering of the people's money by creating deficiencies in violation of law.

Asserting that if the economy in appropriations advocated by him was carried out the tax burden for the calendar year 1921 might be "substantially lightened," Mr. Mondell said he believed continuation of a tax program designed to raise a minimum revenue of $4,000,000,000 for two years, as recommended by the secretary of the treasury, was "unjustified." It is not justified, he added, "even for one year."

OPPOSES HOUSTON PLAN

The Republican leader said, he was opposed to Secretary Houston's plan for retiring with current revenues more than $3,600,000,000 of the country's floating and bonded war debt, including a half billion of Victory notes by January 30, 1923, as placing an "unnecessary burden" upon the people and business.

With 44 per cent of the net cost of the war, excluding foreign loans, already paid, he said, it was unnecessary to keep war rates of taxation for the purpose of reducing the public debt at a rate greatly in excess of the sinking fund rate applied to the entire debt.

"By the end of the fiscal year" Mr. Mondell added, "we shall have reached a point in the reduction of our war debt where further reductions, except thru the sinking fund operations should not continue to impose war time burdens."

While he favored the repeal of the excess profits tax and reduction of the higher income sur-tax, Mr. Mondell said, he thought it unnecessary at this time to consider alternative revenue provisions because "no one can tell what increased revenues may result from the passage of a tariff bill along protective lines."

MILLIONS MADE BY FARMHANDS

North Dakota Helpers Leave For East "Well Heeled"

FARGO, N. D. — Five million dollars is the fee North Dakota paid an army of workers for harvesting her bumper crop this summer.

With the money sewed to their undershirts and tucked in the toes of their boots the 15,000 harvest workers brought into this State are turning their faces to the east and south. All are "well heeled" for the winter.

The property which shines upon the farmers throughout the State is reflected in the appearance of the harvest hands, practically all of whom are garbed in serviceable clothes and are riding first class instead of using the blind baggage or the rods as in days of old. Absence of agitators, who in past years have kept the men moving from job to job with subsequent loss of time and money, are two factors in their general prosperity.

Diversified farming, which is rapidly increasing because of State and extended farmers, has materially enlarged the State's total output, and early in the season it was feared the huge crop might in many places go to ruin for lack of help. Twilight armies of harvest workers were formed by business men and a call sent to the East, which brought many college students to the rescue. When the temporary emergency had been bridged enough regular workers had arrived in the northward sweep of the harvest to meet future demands.

BLIND PEDDLER DIES

MANCHESTER, N. H. — James A. Neal the blind pop-corn peddler is dead. For more than thirty years "Blind Jim," as he was called, sold popcorn on the streets. He had a remarkable memory of voices. In his last days he was unable to find his way about the city. In all his travels he had but one mishap when he stepped into an open bulkhead on Manchester street.

The habit of saying "Pebecco" to the druggist when you buy tooth paste is one such habit.

More and more the tendency is to standardize daily needs. We are tired of lingering in so many "valleys of indecision." Once we find a good thing, we are more than willing to stick to it.

Cleansing the teeth night and morning is one of the best habits. You probably use Pebecco for that purpose, and Pebecco certainly does its work well. In this case the habit you form is not the Pebecco habit, but simply the habit of health and cleanliness.

NEGROES ARE RETURNING FROM JOBS IN NORTH

JULIETTE, Ga. — Letters received from some of the negro laborers attracted by high wages in the North indicate that many of them are anxious to come back to their Georgia homes.

According to the letters many of the factories are either sitting down or cutting down their forces of workmen, and as a result many have been thrown out of employment, and with cold weather coming things are beginning to look serious. One negro, who was a prosperous farmer for years before leaving here, begged his former landlord in a letter to let him transportation back home, and said he would never again leave the South.

The lure of high wages in the North induced many negroes to leave Monroe County, but it is believed most of them are planning to return. On account of the labor shortage on the farms, many of the landlords have offered to help them return.

PHONOGRAPHS AND RECORDS

The ULTONA

Playing a Brunswick Record

Make a Tone Comparison before buying a phonograph

Don't choose a phonograph until you have made a tone comparison. Hear The Brunswick and understand the why and wherefore of the Brunswick Method of Reproduction. Satisfy your own ears, your own judgment.

The wonderful tones of The Brunswick are due to the two exclusive advancements pictured here.

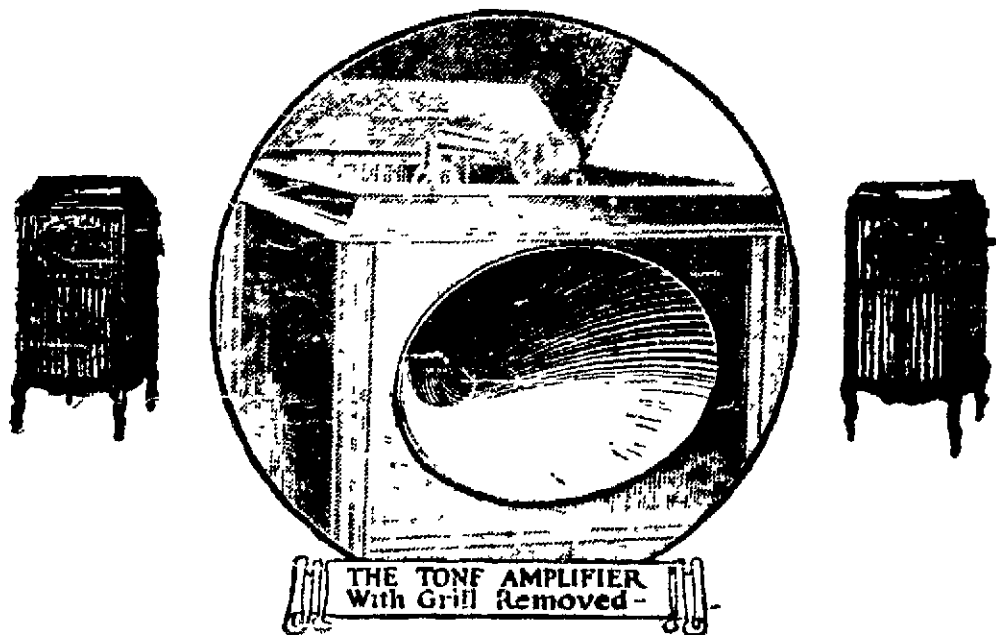

The Ultona is an all-record reproducer that is entirely different. It practically does away with distracting noises on the record, because it is accurately counter-balanced.

Another interesting feature is the scientifically shaped Oval Tone Amplifier—built entirely of resonant wood. It conforms to acoustic laws. It develops tone properly.

We will be glad to play The Brunswick for you, and to explain the function of these Brunswick advantages.

Ask us to play Brunswick Records for you. They can be played on any phonograph using steel or fibre needles.

LIMA TRUST CO. DIVIDEND

Semi-Annual 4 Per Cent Declared—Bonus for Employees

The board of directors of the Lima Trust Company has declared the regular semi-annual dividend of four per cent, payable December 23rd, it was announced Thursday.

This dividend, with a special dividend of two per cent and the regular July dividend of four per cent, makes a total of 10 per cent for the year. The directors report a most satisfactory year's business.

Last year the Trust company adopted the plan of giving a bonus of 10 per cent of the yearly salaries and it was decided by unanimous vote of the directors to continue the plan, permitting each employee to share in the profits.

Twenty-five officers and employees are now engaged in caring for the business of the bank and a recent statement carried the largest total yet published—$4,250,000.

This bank reports conditions improving and the officers believe that while there may be a couple of trying months ahead in the business world, they are very optimistic for the future.

HURRY XMAS PACKAGES: AVOID MAIL CONGESTION

By the first of next week Postmaster James Sullivan is expected to be swamped with Christmas parcels, since persons are delaying the sending of gifts.

An appeal was sent out Thursday asking those having gifts to be mailed to get them on their way as soon as possible, to avoid the rush that now seems inevitable.

Through the middle west postmasters report that the early sending of parcels is way below normal, and that congestion and delay in delivery can be expected.

Postmaster Sullivan said many western packages have already been placed in the mail, but believes that the big rush is being delayed.

"Hurry your parcels" is the appeal sent out from the postoffice here Thursday.

CONSERVATIVE

Reserve Fund $124,000.00

If you have not been in the habit of systematic saving in years gone by, now is the time to make a firm resolution as the new year approaches, to begin getting aside a portion of your earnings weekly or monthly in our savings department, so that in the event of misfortune in business or the loss of earning power by reason of the infirmities of old age, you will not be forced to experience the humiliation of being sustained by charity in declining years. Avail yourself of our service and be 100 per cent independent.

In selecting a Building and Loan in which to start a savings account or deposit large sums one should exercise the same care he would employ in loaning money to an individual. You would not think of loaning money to an individual unless he had property in his own right unencumbered and had a reputation for honesty and integrity. The element which makes any financial institution strong and an attractive place to deposit your money is its reserve fund, the amount set aside each year to take care of any losses that might occur, the same as the individual's property makes him qualified to meet his obligations.

Our Reserve Fund of $124,000.00 is the largest of any Building and Loan in Allen County.

We pay 5 per cent compounded semi-annually. This is 25 per cent more than 4 per cent. Why start a savings account elsewhere.

5 per cent will cause money to double in 14 years. 4 per cent will cause money to double in 18 years. Saved, 4 years.

COOLIDGE CALLED TO MARION

Harding Puts Problems Up to His Official Mate

AID IN NEW REGIME SOUGHT

President-Elect Begins to Share Responsibility

MARION — (By Associated Press) Making good another of his campaign pledges President-elect Harding Thursday sought the advice of Vice-President-elect Coolidge on the problems and policies of the coming administration.

Altho the plan for an association of nations is understood to have been one of the principal points to be discussed at the conference, it is known that Governor Coolidge's invitation to Marion was prompted in a large part by the desire of the president-elect to secure his advice on various domestic questions.

One of Mr. Harding's first announcements after his nomination was a promise of a more active part for the vice-president in the next administration and now that actual experience has brought home to him the wide range of subjects with which a president must deal, he is understood to be even more anxious to let Mr. Coolidge bear some of the administration responsibility.

If any plan has been worked out to delegate definite subjects to the vice president for investigation, however, Mr. Harding has not revealed it even to his close advisers. It is thought more likely that Mr. Coolidge will be asked to act in a general advisory capacity and will be entrusted from time to time with important special missions.

Arriving early in the forenoon, the governor was to spend several hours with Mr. Harding, before returning east.

MUST SIGN PLEDGE AGAINST THE SHIMMY

CHICAGO.—This is to certify that, during the dance just finished, I saw no shimmying, check-to-check dancing, or any other objectionable feature.

The foregoing pledge, hereafter, will have to be forthcoming at the end of every sorority dance at Northwestern University. Miss Mary Ross Potter, dean of women, issued the order.

"Every dance," Dean Potter's order reads, "given by a sorority on the campus in the future must be attended by an alumnae of the sorority under whose auspices the affair is held. As chaperone she will sign the written pledge at the end of the dance signifying the absence of objectionable features.

YOUNGSTOWN STEEL PLANTS MAY SUSPEND

YOUNGSTOWN — Heads of independent steel plants here indicated Thursday that the mills will be practically idle from the end of this week until the first of the year owing to lack of orders. The contemplated suspension would affect about 20,000 workers.

Heat furnaces and other units which would suffer heavily from suspension will be kept going, it was stated, but the main blast furnaces are expected to be idle. United States Steel corporation mills in this district, however, are expected to continue at their present rate of about 90 per cent production.

COLUMBUS—Gov. Cox addressed a communication to state highway department recommending that on and after January 1, estimates for road-building be cut 20 per cent.

In making the recommendation the governor asserts that the cost of materials has been sufficiently reduced to justify the reduction in estimates. He declared that the time has come for some official action toward readjustment.

DEBATING SQUAD IS PLANNED

Lima High Students to Revive Inter-City Forensic Battles

If present plans are carried out, Central high school will soon form a debating society for the purpose of staging forensic battles with various out of the city teams on present day topics.

The work will be under the direction of one of the faculty. A class will be opened and any student desiring will have the privilege of becoming a member. The team finally selected will debate any and all teams in this section of Ohio. More than a year ago the last high school debating team was organized. The need of such a team to represent Lima this year has become apparent. Discussions held semi-monthly by members of the high school senate have attracted wide spread attention among the pupils and it is expected that many of the senators and others will try for places on the debating team.

The girls will be afforded an opportunity to demonstrate their skill in the forum. After applications were received by the senate from girls, seeking membership, the senators held a debate on the question of admitting the gentler sex, resulting in the girls being barred. It is a well known fact that there are girls in Central high who have the ability to debate with skill equal to that of some of the senators. This has been proven in class room discussions, students say.

Principal R. E. Offenbauer and W. E. Binkley, head of the senate, are heartily in favor of the plan, if it is possible to carry it out. The only thing that prevents the immediate formation of a debating team is inability to find a capable instructor who has the time to direct the class.

BOLD CHICKEN THIEF PROVES TO BE WILDCAT

BOSTON — R. D. Saunders, a farmer living on the outskirts of Peabody went gunning for the skunk or other animal that had been making away with his chickens. He finally found it in the form of a wild-cat, sneaking out four and a half feet and weighing about fifty pounds. He lost no time "drawing" with the result that the skin of the animal is now being prepared for the Peabody Museum in Salem. Incidentally, Mr. Saunders will receive $5 from the commonwealth, this reward offered for the slaying of the "cat."

LANDLORDS WARNED NOT TO SELL BOOZE

WORCESTER, Mass. — The abolition of illegal liquor selling in Worcester will be put directly up to Worcester landlords, according to Deputy Chief McMurray, who instructed members of the Police Department to prepare a list of names of property owners whose tenants have been convicted on the charge of illegal liquor keeping.

It is planned to send notices to these landlords informing them that it is up to them to see that the nuisance is stopped at once or prosecutions would follow. If the offense is repeated the police plan to bring action against the offending landlord.

SENTENCES AFFIRMED CHICAGO — The United States court of appeals Thursday affirmed the three year sentences of Heranba dal Gupta, George Paul Boehm, Albert A. Wehde and Gustav H. Jacobson, convicted of fomenting a revolution in India and organizing a military expedition against England.

The men were tried before Judge Landis.

KENTON — The funeral of Frank Easley, of Lansing, Mich., was held here at his parents' home. Easley, an electrician, was accidentally electrocuted while at work in Lansing.

KENTON — Married: Miss Callie Hites and Silas Vensky, both of Hardin-County; Miss Nora Whitaker and Leslie Nichols of Hardin-County; Miss Edith Bushong and Robert Boecher, of Kenton.

SNAPPY WINTER WEATHER INDUCES ACTIVITY IN CHRISTMAS SHOPPING

Christmas shoppers stepped more briskly Thursday when wintry blasts swept around every uptown corner, accompanied by a swift flurry of snow.

Blank winds gushed the faces of hundreds of men and women who hurried toward the stores anxious to complete their selection of Xmas gifts for friends and relatives.

Stores reported big sales and present indications are that they will surpass last year, when trading was branded as abnormal.

All business places are decked in their holiday splendor and present decorations most suggestive of the season at hand.

Lima's toy shops are playgrounds for the kiddies. Numerous new dolls are on display and the little vices are keenly anticipating a great Christmas this year, when old Santa pays his annual visit.

SAYS WIFE WOULDN'T GIVE HIM ONE KISS

CINCINNATI — Claiming he spent his leisure moments with a other woman, Mrs. Elsie M. Koch asked for a divorce from Albert G. Koch, well-known local real estate dealer.

Denying the accusation of his wife, Koch told the court he put out the lights in his wife's room at a hospital so that the attendants would think he had gone and remained at his wife's bedside beyond the time permitted by the hospital rules. He then asked for a divorce.

He charged that repeatedly since three days after their marriage which took place thirteen years ago, his wife "told him she 'made a mistake' in marrying him and did not love him."

Once he tried to kiss his wife, he said, but she pushed him from her and "would not allow it."

Semi-Annual 4 Per Cent Dividend—Bonus for Employees

The board of directors of the Lima Trust Company has declared the regular semi-annual dividend of four per cent, payable December 23rd, it was announced Thursday.

This dividend, with a special dividend of two per cent and the regular July dividend of four per cent, makes a total of 10 per cent for the year. The directors report a most satisfactory year's business.

Last year the Trust company adopted the plan of giving a bonus of 10 per cent of the yearly salaries and it was decided by unanimous vote of the directors to continue the practice, permitting each employee to share in the profits.

Twenty-five officers and employees are now engaged in caring for the business of the bank and a recent statement carried the largest total yet published—$4,250,000.

This bank reports conditions improving and the officers believe that while there may be a couple of trying months ahead in the business world, they are very optimistic for the future.

Kirby's stores have added another location to their list by opening a first class shoe store at 48 Public Square, under the management of J. D. Garrison.

The store is one of the Kirby chain, with main headquarters in Pittsburgh, embracing 15 stores in western Pennsylvania and Ohio. Mr. Garrison has been connected with this concern for a period of seven years. The Lima store is one of the largest in the entire chain and too is one of the most beautiful in appearance.

HURRY XMAS PACKAGES: AVOID MAIL CONGESTION

By the first of next week Postmaster James Sullivan is expected to be swamped with Christmas parcels, since persons are delaying the sending of gifts.

An appeal was sent out Thursday asking those having gifts to be mailed to get them on their way as soon as possible, to avoid the rush that now seems inevitable.

Thruout the middle west postmasters report that the early sending of parcels is way below normal, and that congestion and delay in delivery can be expected.

Postmaster Sullivan said many western packages have already been placed in the mail, but believes that the big rush is being delayed.

"Hurry your parcels" is the appeal sent out from the postoffice here Thursday.

Reserve Fund $124,000.00

If you have not been in the habit of systematic saving in years gone by, now is the time to make a firm resolution as the new year approaches, to begin setting aside a portion of your earnings weekly or monthly in our savings department, so that in the event of misfortune in business or the loss of earning power by reason of the infirmities of old age, you will not be forced to experience the humiliation of being sustained by charity in declining years. Avail yourself of our service and be 100 per cent independent.

In selecting a Building and Loan in which to start a savings account or deposit large sums one should exercise the same care he would employ in loaning money to an individual. You would not think of loaning money to an individual unless he had property in his own right unencumbered and had a reputation for honesty and integrity. The element which makes any financial institution strong and an attractive place to deposit your money is its reserve fund, the amount set aside each year to take care of any losses that might occur, the same as the individual's property makes him qualified to meet his obligations.

Our Reserve Fund of $124,000.00 is the largest of any Building and Loan in Allen County.

We pay 5 per cent compounded semi-annually. This is 25 per cent more than 4 per cent. Why start a savings account elsewhere.

5 per cent will cause money to double in 14 years. 4 per cent will cause money to double in 18 years. Saved, 4 years.

ALL THE MONEY YOU HAVE CANNOT BUY TWO WORDS IN THESE COLUMNS

THE HOME STORES

VERY little, if any, Lima money goes out of the city for the purchase of edibles, wearables and other necessities or luxuries that are spread out in profusion in Lima stores for the convenience of local purchasers. Those Lima people who are wise do not send out of the city a single dollar of their Christmas money.

Lima stores can afford to and do sell cheaper than the big city establishments, because overhead and operating expenses are less. They are in close touch, too, with the big wholesale markets, which enables them to offer in their particular lines the very best of things that are required and desired by the people of a progressive community.

Business men who expect to sell the goods they place on their shelves, spend money for newspaper space designed to let the buying public know what they have to sell and at what price they will sell it. They invest large sums of money in stocks, satisfied that their enterprise will be rewarded by a flow of customers, willing to pay the right price for standard goods, accompanied by the right sort of service.

A visit to Lima stores at this season of the year brings amazement to the observer in noting the wonderful stocks, the variety of goods, the brightly lighted emporiums and the manner in which well organized forces of salesmen meet and serve the buying public. It is appropriate to say that "if it's worth having, you'll find it in Lima."

The producer is doing wonders to meet the needs of the consumer and the up to date business man is the intermediary, necessary and indispensable. Just at this time buying is extraordinarily heavy, due to the near approach of Christmas and no one can say that Lima business men do not carry stocks of goods desired by those who buy.

Modern merchandizing is afforded full play in this city. The business man is doing his part in maintaining prosperity in Lima. It is the dollars that are spent at home that pay the best dividends in home city progress.

MAKE WAY, COMES WOMAN!

LIMA men, if any there be who are obsessed with the idea that women are not able to conduct the affairs of a town with the same ability that characterizes the efforts of men, are respectfully referred to the matriarchal government now in effect in Yoncalla, Oregon.

In the recent election, women were chosen to fill all municipal offices, including that of mayor. Unknown to the male electors of the town, the women united in support of the "woman ticket" and the result was that the entire ticket was elected. It was the biggest surprise the men of the town had ever received and they haven't gotten over it yet.

The women announce thru the new mayor that they will start a "cleanup" of the town and that extensive municipal improvements will be made. When, shortly before election day November 2, the women surprised the men by suddenly putting a ticket in the field consisting entirely of women, it was like setting off a bomb, for the men of the town had assumed that they would conduct no election, but permit the old officers to continue.

Lacking time to rally their forces, the men were defeated. Even the wife of the mayor of the town was out working among others in behalf of the ticket representatives of her sex had placed in nomination—and her husband didn't know it! Who said a woman couldn't keep a secret?

The eyes of persons all over the country interested in municipal affairs will be directed toward Yoncalla during the next two years, to see how the petticoated officials get away with their new responsibility.

Just to show that there is no intention to hinder and hamper the women in their work, all of the male officials of the town resigned in a body.

IT DOESN'T MEAN ANYTHING

RECOMMENDATIONS made by the Allen-co grand jury that a reorganization be effected in the Lima police force are vague and without meaning. They do the police force an injustice in that a general suggestion is made without any specific recommendations as to what should be done and without pointing out definitely that there is anything wrong in the department.

If the police force is inefficient or any of its members are guilty of violation of the trust imposed in them, the public wants to know it. The grand jury examined scores of witnesses in this connection. At the end only a statement which would tend to make the public suspicious was forthcoming.

City officials cannot act on what the grand jury gave them. Indictments or specific details of the investigators' findings, if there were any, would help them in weeding out, as the jury suggests, the undesirables.

If Prosecutor Cable has any evidence to show that the police department is inefficient and should be reorganized, now is the time for him to introduce it. If he has not he should not allow a veil of suspicion to fall over the entire department which will make its work more difficult in the future and gain nothing.

MANY GO—MANY RETURN

"MANY are called but few are chosen." That's a biblical expression. It might be applied to those Ohioans who become obsessed with the idea that it is up to them to "seek greener fields and pastures new," in other words, to leave the state wherein they were born and where they grew to man's estate, to apply themselves in new endeavor, among strangers in a far distant state.

For of these folks with the inclination to wander, there are many. Every community produces them, to a greater or less degree and the number appears to be growing rather than diminishing.

The point is this: Falling for alluring word pictures of wonderful crops, of sunshine and flowers and ideal weather conditions that are supposed to feature any and all parts of the country other than the particular state in which one resides, many are impelled to encourage the desire to wander. Wonderful visions are conjured up and the lure is strong. Many surrender to the temptation to "move."

But invariably they come back again. They find, after awhile, that the picture of glory has faded; that there's nothing to it anyway and that the old home scenes and opportunities are the best after all. It's difficult to desert old friends and familiar scenes. Some succeed in doing it; others try but fail.

This sort of thing goes on year after year, with new recruits for the army of those who go, but return.

A NEW HOSPITAL

ARGUMENTS advanced by the staff of the City hospital in urging a new building are sound. Lima needs another modern hospital and steps should be taken without delay to get it.

The trustees of the old institution have been told that the present dilapidated building is a fire trap and given many other reasons why it ought to be replaced. It has served its period of usefulness.

With another hospital such as St. Rita's, which is performing most valuable service and is one of the best in the country, the city would be well equipped to meet any emergency. It would not be difficult to get public backing in this matter and it is to be hoped that every effort is made to get a campaign under way with the least possible delay.

MISS LIMA: "The reason we have few great statesmen is because the chief concern of a modern 'leader' is to discover which way the people are going."

HEALTH HINTS

By William Brady, M. D.

THE CAUSE OF MIGRAINE

No one can account for the occurrence of epilepsy and no one can account for the occurrence of migraine in certain families, but we know that these conditions both prevail in some families as inherited states. One or both parents may have been an alcoholic habitue, hysterical or epileptic, a subject of migraine, or mentally abnormal; one or more children in such a family will be likely to be neurotic, epileptic, subject to migraine or some mental abnormality.

Most cases of migraine begin in early youth or young adult life. Few cases begin after thirty. This is also true of epilepsy. As I have said before, good students of the subject have described migraine (periodic one-sided or headaches ushered in by brilliant or blind scotomata) as the "sensory equivalent" of epileptic seizures.

In an individual with the hereditary migrainous disposition, then, it is probable that various minor defects or disturbances may precipitate or favor the occurrence of migraine seizures—defects which would scarcely annoy a person with sound nervous stability. Thus, that ordinary degree of eyestrain which practically every civilized individual presents if examined, may in some cases be a definite factor and one worthy of the careful attention of a good oculist but it is futile and illogical to imagine that this well high universal imperfection of vision is a frequent factor of headaches of any kind, for experience has shown that the eyestrain is really concerned in about three in every hundred cases.

Likewise, fatigue, constipation, excessive indulgence in food, emotional upsets of any kind may be the inciting causes in the case of an individual who has the migrainous disposition. These who are content to resolve "biliousness" as an inciting cause should learn that the usual factor of "biliousness" is not the liver or any shortcomings in its function, but overeating or lack of sufficient exercise, or both.

Nearly a third of all cases of migraine begin in childhood, sometime between the fifth and tenth years of age, and the other two-thirds appear in youth or early adult life. Supposed migraine or similar attacks, appearing for the first time after the age of thirty, suggest, like late appearing epileptic attacks, some developing lesion of the nervous system rather than true migraine or, if it be an epileptic trouble, true epilepsy. Thus insidious abscess of the brain, brain tumor, and anaplexia have been mistaken for migraine appearing in individuals over thirty. Decayed teeth are sometimes a precipitating factor of migraine, even though there is no toothache. Slight abnormalities within the nasal chambers have apparently precipitated migraine in numerous instances. In children with this disposition, therefore, the teeth and the nose and throat require careful examination.

YOUR NAME

VARIATIONS—Malloy, O'Malley. RACIAL ORIGIN—Irish. SOURCE—A given name. Here is an Irish clan or family name of real antiquity, for it traces back to about the period of "Niall of the Nine Hostages," who was the "High-King" of Ireland in the latter part of the fourth century. In fact the clan traces its origin to a chieftain who was a dependant of this monarch.

It may be of passing interest to note here that the ancient Irish nation ran a course far longer than has been the lot of other nations, ancient or modern, with the exception perhaps of the Jews and the Egyptians. The histories of the "High-Kings," who held sway over all the clans of the nation, are recorded in an unbroken line from the joint reign of brothers Herber and Heremon, in 1700 B. C., down to the death of Roderick O'Connor, the last and 1834 of the "High-Kings," at which time, in the latter part of the twelfth century A. D., the Irish national structure finally began to crumble under the onslaughts of the Anglo-Normans.

The Irish form of the name Malloy is "O'Maoluidh." The meaning of this name, as nearly as it can be rendered, is "servant of motion." It is a compound of the Gaelic words "luadh" (motion); and "maol" (servant, follower or devotee).

The clan seat was in the ancient territory of "Ferreall," in Meath, the ancient "Fidherall" territory, now the territory about Ferrell, Ballycowen and Ballyboy in King's county. Tomorrow—Pomeroy.

Ends Stubborn Coughs in a Hurry

For real effectiveness, this old home-made remedy is most easily and cleanly prepared.

You'll never know how quickly a bad cough can be conquered, until you try this famous old home-made remedy. Anyone who has coughed all day and all night, will say that the immediate relief given by this remedy is like magic. It takes but a moment to prepare, and really there is nothing better for coughs. Into a pint bottle, put 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. Or you can use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, the full pint saves about two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, and gives you a more positive, effective remedy. It keeps perfectly and tastes pleasant—children like it.

You can feel this take hold instantly, soothing and healing the membranes in all the air passages. It promptly loosens a dry, tight cough, and soon you will notice the phlegm thin out and then disappear altogether. A day's use will usually break up an ordinary throat or chest cold, and it is also splendid for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness, and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, the most reliable remedy for throat and chest ailments.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction, or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

OLD ENGLISH RECIPE FOR CATARRH, CATARRHAL DEAFNESS AND HEAD NOISES

If you know of some one who is troubled with Catarrh, Deafness, head noises or ordinary catarrh, cut out this formula and hand it to them and you may have been the means of saving some poor sufferer perhaps from total deafness. In England scientists for a long time past have recognized that catarrh is a constitutional disease and necessarily requires constitutional treatment.

Sprays, inhalers and nose douches are liable to irritate the delicate air passages and force the disease into the middle ear, which frequently means total deafness, or else the disease may be driven down the air passages towards the lungs which is equally dangerous. The following formula, which is used extensively in the army, English civil service, a constitutional treatment and should prove especially efficacious to sufferers here who live under more favorable climate conditions.

Secure from your druggist 1 ounce of Turpentine (Double strength). Take this home and add to it 1 pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day. This will often bring quick relief from distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and hearing improve as the inflammation in the eustachian tubes is reduced. Turpentine used in this way acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system and has a tonic action that helps to obtain the desired results. The preparation is easy to make, costs little and is pleasant to take. Every person who has catarrh or head noises or is in danger of hearing should give this treatment a trial—dr.

OLD SCISSORS SAYS:
Nothing exceeds the arrogance of the Lima man whose flock of hens are laying now.

The grand jury wants the police department shaken up. It will get just that if it ever rides in an automobile thru Main-st.

It is easy to be polite with Christmas only a little more than a week off.

Burleson didn't say how many pieces of mail his department lost in addition to that $17,000,000.

Our neighbor cranks his slyver each morning in the dark, the noise would jar your liver when it begins to spark. It wakens all us neighbors, that live within a block; we start our daily labors by this alarm clock.

A dollar in the bank is worth two in your pocket if your wife finds your pocketbook these days.

Things are changing for the better. Rival hobo organizations decide to work in harmony. We are glad they will work at something.

Still some of the Lima pop dealers aren't making any more profit than some bootlegger who sell hooch at $20 a quart.

Did you ever notice that when you are getting a shampoo, the barber persistently misses the spot that itches?

Give the credit to whom you may. We're convinced the fingerprint business was invented by the waiters.

According to a deposition made by Marc Klaw, the entire chorus of the Ziegfeld "Follies" is paid $2,056 a week. We had always, in our ignorance, believed that one of those magnificent creatures alone got that much.

A law making high heels a crime is urged by Massachusetts doctors. The law won't go over. All these other prohibitions that have recently been voted were laws that took something away from the men. But when it comes to taking privileges away from the women, then look out for the women's vote.

"Is it an established custom," asks J. T. "for councilmen in Lima to lay off six months before Christmas and six months after?" It's been the custom so long we would say it is established.

WAD DOG ATTACKS DAIRY HERD

Five Cows at Children's Home Die; Sixth is Shot

DOG'S CARCASS CREMATED

Hydrophobia Result Destroys Children's Milk Supply

Allen-co Children's Home is now without a supply of milk and butter, due to an attack of hydrophobia which has taken all but one cow from the farm.

Upon order of William J. Judkins, 1007 W. Market, trustee of the Children's Home, the sixth cow was shot Thursday morning. Five other cows died within the past few days. Two boys playing upon the Children's Home farm, heard a great commotion in the barn. They ran to ascertain the cause and found a dead chicken as they entered the door.

COWS BITTEN IN NOSE
They noticed that six of the cows were bleeding at the nose. Then they discovered a mad dog. Help was secured and the dog was killed. Without an examination being made the dog and chicken were thrown into the furnace.

A veterinary who made an examination of the cows declared they were afflicted with hydrophobia. He said the sixth cow was recovering. Fearing ill effects should the children be fed the milk, even after the cow's recovery, Mr. Judkins ordered that the animal be killed. The animals were as fine as the Children's Home farm every afforded. But one cow, which occupied a box stall, escaped the fangs of the mad dog.

It is believed the dog nipped each of the six cows in the nose, which caused the bleeding at the nostrils. Information from two farmers residing southwest of the Children's Home says that their herds of hogs were attacked by the same dog and that since the two men have lost more than 30 hogs.

This would indicate, Mr. Judkins believes, the dog came from territory to the southwest of the Children's Home.

KILLING IS APPROVED

Fearing he might not have acted within his jurisdiction, Trustee Judkins laid the matter before Allen-co commissioners Thursday morning. They supported him in all he did and announced another supply of milk cows will be secured to make up the dairy at the home, as soon as all danger of infection is passed.

The dog first passed over the Children's Home grounds a week ago last Monday.

BRIDE AT 14, WIDOW AT 15, AND BRIDE AGAIN AT 16, OHIOAN'S RECORD

MARION — A bride at 14, a widow at 15 and a bride again at 16 is the record disclosed in probate court here Thursday. When Miss Bessie Jacobs, accompanied by her parents whose consent was necessary before she could get a license, applied for a license to marry Michael A. McCall, aged 22, Father Joseph Denning performed the ceremony.

IT'S NOT SO "DRY" WAY UP IN MAINE

HOULTON, Me. — The liquor has grown to such proportions here that charges are being openly made that those in authority are not enforcing the law. It is claimed that conditions are so bad in certain sections of this town that it is not safe for women and girls to be out alone after dark. Judge Archibald's Court is crowded daily by defendants accused of violating the Volstead act. Prohibition advocates claim liquor is being peddled in a most open manner. There is also evidence of "rum-running" across the border.

SHINBONE GRAFTED IN SOLDIER'S SPINE

BILLINGS, Mont. — James Laughlin, former soldier, has been discharged from a local hospital and has left for Minneapolis, Minn., after a cure that is pronounced by local surgeons to be miraculous.

Laughlin was injured in 1918 at Camp Dodge, Iowa, when an army mule attached to a commissary wagon that he was driving ran away. For more than two years Laughlin was a helpless cripple. Eight inches of vertebrae in Laughlin's back, has been replaced by his own shinbone, and after months of knitting the operation is declared successful, the former soldier being pronounced strong and fit for work.

C. C. DIRECTORS CHOSEN IN U. S. MAIL BALLOT

Eugene T. Lippincott, George Bay, R. J. Plate, H. O. Bentley and R. Dunn, for the three year term. Bruce Applas, George Metheny, Glenn Webb, Paul Crawford and Jefferson Morris, for two years, and Chalmers Brown, Austin Potter, Ed Gordon, John Williams and Fred Becker for one year terms, were elected by members of the Chamber of Commerce by mail ballot, closed Wednesday night.

More than 1,000 ballots were cast. The 15 named were chosen from a list of 30 nominated. Mayor Burkhardt and newspapermen counted the ballots.

LITTLE BABE SWALLOWS OPEN SURGEON PIN, BUT SURGEON SAVES LIFE

BROCKTON, Mass. — Brockton Hospital surgeons are elated over the discharge from the institution this week of Clyde Fowler, aged one year, minus an open safety pin he swallowed several days ago. When the little one was brought to the hospital it was feared an operation would be necessary. The pin was located in the stomach of the child by the X-ray but the surgeons withheld the knife and "pursed" the pin along. The pin has been recovered.

ENGINEER URGES ACTION ON IMPROVEMENT

City Engineer Vaughn Miller and his force have ready the plans for bids on five sewer projects in Lima on which contractors are expected to submit bids on January 5th.

The forms exhibit in detail the work required on the North side main relief sewer, the South side lateral relief sewer, Lakewood-ave. district relief sewer, Pleasant-st. district relief sewer, Central-ave. lateral relief sewer and the Collet-st. lateral sewer.

On January 4, bids will be received for the construction of concrete bridge over Ottawa river at Elm and North-sts., Miller stated.

Work on the abutments of the self-st. sewer is proceeding, despite inclement and near zero weather. Concrete is being poured.

GREAT STUFF, BUT ONLY MEDICINE

Mayor and Party Enjoy Sniff, But That's All

"When the lid come off the law as applied to Jamaica Ginger, the police will get busy," Chief of Police Roush said Thursday, when informed by Mayor Burkhardt that Jamaica Ginger as a beverage has only a short time to live. A federal order provides for a brief period of grace for manufacturers and dealers to get rid of supplies on hand. After that, it's good-bye Ginger. None is being shipped now.

Sniff-sniff! Ah, that smells just like the real stuff. A voice was heard in the mayor's office. 'Twas Chief Roush, nose testing an open bottle of stomach bitters, a dark liquid with a pungent odor that found its way thru a keyhole in the door and permeated that section of the City Hall where J. Norman King presides as clerk to the service director.

Sniff-sniff! Mr. King caught the odor and a newspaper reporter couldn't get away from it. A critical inspection was made of the contents of the bottle, but none present had the nerve to tackle it.

"It's just a sample," quoth the mayor. "This one contains 18 per cent alcohol, is labeled a medicine, and the dose prescribed is two tablespoonful three times a day. Guaranteed not to be intoxicating, but a few good swigs would make the drinker mighty sick, the owner of the bottle told me."

BLACKSMITH COULDN'T RETIRE

MEDFORD, Ore. — A. M. Arthurs, 81 years of age, thought he had worked long enough a year ago, so he retired. But Arthurs found that leading an inactive life was the hardest work he had ever done. So he purchased his former property near this city and will soon be pounding his old anvil again.

VICE CRUSADE BACKED BY KU KLUX KLAN

ANNISTON, Ala. — Typo-written notices signed "Ku Klux Klan" and purporting to have been issued by the local branch of that organization warning "reds, undesirable and anonymous letter-writers" that the Klan stood ready to back up constituted authority in a vice crusade launched a week ago, were found posted Thursday in different parts of the city.

The action of the organization, believed by city and state officers to have been taken because of anonymous letters received this week by Chief of Police George W. Rutledge, in which not only that officer but Governor Kilby as well, were threatened if there was not a let-up in the activity of Anniston officers.

Greatest Sale in History of City Closes Friday Eve.

Throngs attracted by tremendous reduction in ready-to-wear.

LIMA, O. Dec. 15. Never before have the women of this city been given the privilege of buying all their outer garments at exactly half price and when the House of Blum announced that they would throw open their large and exclusive stock of coats, suits, blouses, sweaters and even furs, without exception, at this figure, it was almost unbelievable. But they came, they saw and they certainly bought. From the moment the sale opened Monday morning until now, the sales people have been rushed to the limit in trying to help everyone make their selection. Women did not really realize just how much of a concession they were getting until they looked over the many lovely models and, upon finding a gown which suited them exactly at $80.00, they paid $40.00 and had it sent to them. Of course, they were simply delighted.

The fact that Blum's have done this big thing just before Christmas instead of waiting until January, as is customary, only brings home stronger than ever the policy of the house since 1888—real service to the people.

Entire Change of the Picture Program Today at the Lyric With Olive Tell In "Wings of Pride"

There is an entire change of picture program today at the Lyric theater, showing Olive Tell in "Wings of Pride". This is the screen's most dramatic story of a proud girl who was sought by men and made to taste the very dregs of life. Her mirror told her she was beautiful; advances of men taught her she was desired. Then she came to suffer the pangs of poverty and the evils of lust, the helpless victim of a foul, brutal man who proposed to possess her no matter to what lengths he had to go.

There are stirring, gripping scenes in this picture—this story of a woman's whims and passions. It is gorgeous in its presentation, tense in its dramatic interest and masterful in its portrayal by beautiful Olive Tell—the queen of emotional interpretation on the screen.

And remember—You'll also see the "Rainbow Revue", this wonderful aggregation of entertainers who for several days now have been the topic on every tongue. Wonderful dancers; splendid singers; daring and elaborate costumes; artists everyone of them—and there's 23 real people you know—all of which goes to indicate that the Lyric program for today, tomorrow and Saturday is to be well worth while.

THE MIDDLE TEMPLE MURDER

BY J. S. FLETCHER

Spargo sent a spiral of scented smoke into the air.

"I want to know an awful lot," he said. "I'm hungry for news. I want to know who John Marbury is. I want to know what he did with himself between the time when he walked out of the Anglo-Orient Hotel, alive and well, and the time when he was found in Middle Temple Lane, with his skull beaten in and dead. I want to know where he got that scrap of paper. Above everything, Breton, I want to know what he got to do with you!"

He gave the young barrister a keen look, and Breton nodded.

"Yes," he said. "I confess that's correct. But I think—"

"Well!" said Spargo.

"I think he may have been a man who had some legal business in hand, or in prospect, and had been recommended to—me," said Breton.

Spargo smiled—a little sardonic.

"That's good!" he said. "You had your very first brief—yesterday. Come—your fame isn't blown abroad through all the heights yet, my friend! Besides—don't intend clients approach—isn't it strict etiquette for them to approach?—barristers through solicitors?"

"Quite right—in both your remarks," replied Breton, good-humoredly. "Of course, I'm not known a bit, but all the same I've known several cases where a barrister has been approached in the first instance and asked to recommend a solicitor. Somebody who wanted to do me a good turn may have given this man my address."

"Possible," said Spargo. "But I wouldn't have come to consult you at midnight, Breton!—the more I think of it, the more I'm certain there's a tremendous mystery in this affair! That's why I got the chief to let me write it up as I have done—here. I'm hoping that this photograph—this to be sure, it's a bad face—and this facsimile of the scrap of paper will lead to somebody coming forward who can—"

Just then one of the uniformed youth who hung about the marble-pillared vestibule of the Watchman office came into the room with the unmistakable look and air of one who carries news of moment.

"I dare say a sovereign to a cent that I know what this is," muttered Spargo in an aside. "Well," he said to the boy. "What is it?"

The messenger came up to the desk.

"Mr. Spargo," he said, "there's a man downstairs who says that he wants to see somebody about that murder case that's in the paper this morning, sir. Mr. Barrett said I was to come to you."

"Who is the man?" asked Spargo.

"Won't say sir," replied the boy. "I gave him a form to fill up, but he said he wouldn't write anything—said all he wanted was to see the man who wrote that piece in the paper."

"Bring him here," commanded Spargo. He turned to Breton when the boy had gone, and he smiled. "I know we should have somebody here or later," he said. "That's—"

He hurried over my breakfast and came down at 10 o'clock. Now then, what will you bet on the chances of this chap's information proving valuable?"

"Nothing," replied Breton. He's probably some crank or faddist who's got some theory that he wants to ventilate."

The man who was presently ushered in by the messenger seemed from preliminary and outward appearance to justify Breton's prognostication. He was obviously a countryman, a tall, loosely built, middle-aged man, yellow hair, blue of eye, who was wearing his Sunday-best array of pre-gray trousers and black coat, and sported a neck-tie in which were several distinct colors. Oppressed with the splendor and grandeur of the Watchman building, he had removed his hard billycock hat as he followed the boy and ducked his bare head at the two young men as he stepped out to the thick pile of the carpet which made luxurious footing in Spargo's room. His blue eyes, opened to their widest, looked round him in astonishment at the sumptuousness of modern newspaper-office accommodation.

"How do you do, sir?" said Spargo, pointing a finger to one of the chairs in the room, which the Watchman office is famous for understanding that you wish to see me?"

The caller ducked his yellow head, sat down on the edge of the chair, put his hat on the floor, picked it up again, and endeavored to hang it on his knee and looked at Spargo innocently and shyly.

"What I want to see, sir," he observed in a rustic accent, "is the gentleman as wrote that piece in your newspaper about this here murder in Middle Temple lane."

"You see him," said Spargo. "I am that man."

The caller smiled—genially.

"Indeed, sir?" he said. "A very nice bit of reading, I'm sure. And what might your name be, now, sir?"

"I can always talk free-er to a man when I know what his name is."

"So can I," answered Spargo. "My name is Spargo—Frank Spargo."

"What's your?"

"Name of Webster, sir—William Webster. I farm at One Ash farm, at Cosberton, in Oakshire. Me and my wife," continued Mr. Webster, again smiling and distributing his smile between both of his hearers.

"Is at present in London on a holiday. And very pleasant we find it—weather and all."

"That's right," said Spargo. "And you wanted to see me about this murder, Mr. Webster?"

"I did, sir. Me, I believe, knowing, as I think, something that'll do for you to put in your paper. You see, Mr. Spargo, it come about in this fashion—happen you'll be for me to tell it in my own way."

"That," answered Spargo, "is precisely what I desire."

"Well, to be sure, I couldn't tell it in no other," declared Mr. Webster. "You see, sir, I read your paper this morning while I was waiting for my breakfast—they take breakfast so late in them hotels—when I'd read it and looked at the pictures, I says to my wife 'As soon as I've had my breakfast,' I says."

"Mr. Spargo," he said, "there's a man downstairs who says that he wants to see somebody about that murder case that's in the paper this morning, sir. Mr. Barrett said I was to come to you."

JUST A GIRL

BY JANE PHILLIPS

A MOTOR RIDE

Gwenda danced her first dance with "Sandy" and he guided her gladly thru the intricacies of the latest steps, enjoying to his finger tips her comments and childish joy in this new and wonderful art. "It makes me feel warm all over, just doing these slides and dips with you," she said in her frank way, after he had whirled her about for some time, and I never have had a real dance before, either, Mr. Sandy."

"Just plain 'Sandy,' if you please, Miss Gwenda," he corrected. "We are not strong on titles down here, and of course you're really just Gwenda to us, too. It's quite simple, if you understand."

"That's easy enough," said Gwenda, dimpling, "for I've never been anything but 'Gwenda' and 'Gwenda' to anyone in all my life. I hate being called 'Gwenda,' tho she smiled with a little shudder of disgusts. "It spoils a pretty name—and makes me feel different from what I really am."

From a far off corner Fern and some of her bosom friends watched Gwenda's dancing.

"She's a bona fide beauty, Fern," said one girl, admiringly, "and Sandy has fallen hard. That's sure. Well, he won't do her any harm, so just let them see as much of each other as they want."

"I don't quite know what to do with her yet," but I have a feeling that Gwenda won't need to be told what work to do. She'll choose for herself, and chase her own destiny better than any one else could. She has heaps of character, and I have absolute faith in her."

"Of course she'd do beautifully for the theater," volunteered a dark-haired girl in a cerise smock, and an intelligent face, with a thoughtful glance in Gwenda's direction. "Lord knows we are in need of some fresh blood in our midst. I do hope first Gwenda can be induced to believe that the stage is the only course open to her beauty and talent. Just think of her in that new play we are hoping to put on next month, Simone," turning to the girl on her right.

"The very person for our oriental girl, Fern," she said exuberantly, "and please use all your influence to help us to get Gwenda into our company, won't you, old dear?"

"Well see, we'll see," said Fern. "Give the child a chance to play about a bit first, she's started for want of a little life and laughter and room to move her cramped limbs, about in the way she should. I want to see her fly about and find a place for herself in the world of again. The future can hold so much for Gwenda."

"Just watch her now, the funny girl," she whispered to the girls. "Look at her calmly taking off that satin slipper of hers, and look at the adoration in Sandy's eyes, as he helps her on to the divan. Bet my hat she's telling him that she simply cannot stand such slippers after being barefooted for so long, or something like that. Gwenda is such a frank darling."

As a matter of fact that was just what Gwenda was saying, for the strangeness of satin evening slippers proved too much for her young feet, accustomed as they were to sandals or the feel of the bare earth only.

So great was the torture at the end of an hour's steady dancing that she stopped suddenly and begged Sandy to let her sit down and "pick up her feet for a minute."

Once seated on the divan, she kicked off both slippers and bathed her feet in relief, much to his amusement.

"Seems as tho I wasn't made for this sort of life and way of dressing, after all," she explained ruefully, looking down at the offending feet. "I've never worn slippers like these before and these are Fern's, you know; so's the lovely dress," she finished in an embarrassed way.

"Go in and change them," said Sandy. "Here, let me help you out."

HER OWN CAREER

By PHYLIS PHILLIPS

HER FIRST REAL DANCE

"It is still early, not much after eight, and a wonderful night. What do you think of a spin along the shore drive?" Mr. Claxton asked, looking not at me, but at Mother.

"It would be delightful," she returned with enthusiasm, while Aunt Susan looked her pleasure.

"Then away we go!"

I had not spoken, but he looked at me and smiled, taking it for granted I would not object when both Mother and Aunt Susan were anxious to go.

"Come, then," I said to Mother, who looked rather dubious about leaving the dinner table in such disarray. "We can do the dishes when we return, or in the morning."

"Excuse me—I didn't think," Mr. Claxton was embarrassed. He had evidently forgotten that we were poor people, and did our own work.

"It is all right. Hurry, Mother, and get your wraps," I urged.

Mr. Claxton assisted Mother and Aunt Susan to the terrace, me in to the seat beside him. He was driving his own car. As we rode swiftly along the shore of the lake, Aunt Susan's enthusiasm knew no bounds.

It was her first view of the city at night. And she asked many questions, so that we talked very little. But I had a feeling of happiness, of security as I looked at the strong face of the man beside me—a feeling of pride as I noted his gentle way with Aunt and Mother.

"How many employers would be so kind?" I asked myself when, after an hour, we turned back toward home.

Now Mother and Aunt Susan were quietly happy, and we talked together in low tones—not about our work, but about music and the new plays. He had a box at the opera and said he couldn't use it on a certain night.

"Do you think your Aunt and Mother would enjoy Mary Garden?" he asked. "I am certain you will."

"Mother is very fond of music, and as to Aunt, she will be entertained in watching the house whether she cares for the opera or not. I have not heard Mary Garden, and so shall have a double treat," I added rather primly. I wanted to thank him just as I would Mary and Tom when they did something for me, but couldn't. There was always a bit of stiffness—a feeling that he was my employer—altho I knew he was also my friend.

There had not been no word spoken that showed he cared particularly for me, but when he left us at the apartment, I had a feeling that had it not been for what I had told him of Kenneth Lawrence, he might have shown me more plainly that I was more to him than an ordinary employee.

I blushed crimson at the thought, thankful for the darkness that hid my face from Mother and Aunt Susan.

We cleared the table and tidied the apartment, but all the time I had a guilty feeling. I had been almost untrue to Kenneth! I had not once thought of him the entire evening.

"I'm going to where they print this newspaper to tell 'em something," "Aye!" she says. "Why, what have you to tell, I should like to know? Just like that, Mr. Spargo."

"Mrs. Webster," said Spargo, "is a lady of business-like principles. And what have you to tell?"

Mr. Webster looked into the crown of his hat, looked out of it and smiled knowingly.

"Well, sir," he continued, "last night my wife, she went out to a party they call Claxton, to take her tea and supper with an old friend of hers as lives there, and as they wanted to have a bit of woman-talk, like I didn't go. So thinks I to my self I'll go and see this here House of Commons. There was a neighbor of mine as had told me that all you'd got to do was to tell the policeman at the door that you wanted to see your own member of Parliament. So when I got there I told 'em that I wanted to see our M. P., Mr. Stone-wood—you'll have heard tell of him, no doubt; he knows me very well—and they bawled me and I wrote out a ticket for him, and they told me to sit down while they found him. So I sat down in a grand sort of hall where there were a rare lot of people going and coming and some fine pictures and images to look at, and for a time I looked at them and then I began to take a bit of notice of the folk near at hand, waiting, you know, like myself. And as sure as I'm a christened man, sir, the gentleman whose picture you've got in your paper—him as was murdered—was sitting next to me! I knew that picture as soon as I saw it this morning."

Spargo, who had been making unmeaning scribbles on a block of paper, suddenly looked at his visitor.

"What time was that?" he asked.

"It was between a quarter and half-past 9, sir," answered Mr. Webster. "It might 'a' been twenty-five past—it might 'a' been twenty-five past."

"Go on, if you please," said Spargo.

"Well, sir, me and this here dead gentleman talked a bit. About what a long time it took to get a member to attend to you, and such-like. I made mention of the fact that I hadn't been in there before. 'Neither have I,' he says; 'I came in out of curiosity,' he says, and then he laughed, sir—queer-like. And it was just after that that what I'm going to tell you about happened."

"Tell," commanded Spargo.

Medical Science proves blood rich in iron to be a secret of great strength, energy and endurance.

You may be a better man at 50 than the husky stripling of 25 if you take care of yourself and KEEP YOUR BLOOD FILLED WITH IRON.

In an account of a severe mountain climbing test, a New York newspaper states that 20 percent of those who accomplished the feat were 44 years and over.

Prize-fighters, wrestlers and athletes have learned the value of plenty of plain coarse foods in their training as such a diet helps supply their blood with iron.

THERE ARE 30,000,000,000,000 RED BLOOD CORPUSCLES IN YOUR BLOOD AND EACH ONE MUST HAVE IRON.

Nature put plenty of iron in the husks of grains and the skins and peels of vegetables and fruits to enrich your blood, but modern methods of cooking throw all these things away—hence the alarming increase in recent years in anaemia—the reduction of the blood, with all its attendant ills. When you get up feeling tired in the morning when you find yourself nervous, irritable and easily upset; when you can no longer do your day's work without being all fagged out at night; when your digestion slows down or you have pains across the back and your face looks pale and drawn, do not wait until you go all to pieces and collapse in a state of nervous prostration, or until

LEGION BASKET BALL TEAM TO PLAY TOLEDO OLYMPICS NEXT

In anticipation of one of the hardest battles of the season, Manager Costello is putting his Legion basket ball quintet thru stiff daily practices for the game to be played at Memorial Hall Friday night with the strong Toledo Olympics.

The Toledo aggregation is made up of veteran basket ball stars and have been traveling like a whirlwind this season in games against some of the best outfits in Ohio, northern Indiana and southern Michigan.

Max Barkan, manager of the Toledo club, has informed Costello that his team will arrive early Friday for a preliminary workout in the hall in the afternoon. This means that the game will be started promptly at 8:15.

The Toledo team will line up as follows:

Lawrence, forward, formerly with the Kelly Ad team of Toledo; Riskey, forward, star of last year's Toledo "I" team; Rose, center, formerly with the Chicago Logan Squares; De-Christopher, guard, last year a star on the Dayton Triangles, and Betes, guard, last year one of Toledo's most sensational high school stars, playing with Scott H.

Their substitutes will be: Weber, Harding and Gruber.

ROSE IS A STAR
Rose, the center, is considered one of the greatest individual stars in the country and has scored the majority of points for the Toledo teams in games so far this season.

Without losing a single game, the Olympics have piled up 40 points against their opponents' 86.

To strengthen the local line-up, Paul Bacome, coach of the South Hi basket ball squad, will play one of the forward positions with the Legion Friday night. Bacome is a star player and in the game Friday night much can be expected of him.

Besides having a keen eye for the basket, he is fast and covers the floor with lightning-like speed. He is not a dirty player, yet he makes things interesting for his guards.

Bill Barlow, sporting editor of The News, will referee the main event.

A preliminary game, which will start at 7:30 promptly, will be between the Garford Girl's quintet and the Gramm-Bernstein feminine team. This is the second time these two teams have met, the first time Gramm-Bernstein winning by a score of 12-7. This time the Garford beauties are after revenge and an exciting game is promised by those in close touch with both teams.

BASEBALL MAY BE STARTED APRIL 13

NEW YORK — The National league today wound up the second session of its annual December meeting subject to call of President Heydler, which undoubtedly will be Jan. 12 in Chicago, when it is expected the rules to carry out the new national agreement will be adopted.

At the same time the minor leagues will be urged to get on the band wagon and go along with J. Edgar Landis and the rest of the crowd. The minor leagues probably will ratify the agreement on Jan. 10, and two days later all will be lovely.

URGENT SEASON OPEN APRIL 13
President Heydler's organization today agreed to urge upon the advisory council that the coming baseball season be opened on Wednesday, April 13. This matter will be put up to the American league magnates who meet here Friday. It is probable they will agree and then the schedule makers will get busy so they will have everything in shape for the February meeting here.

It was agreed the training season for National league clubs shall be six weeks and six weeks only. The plan is to start in the neighborhood of March 2. If the season opens April 13 that will give the needed time.

MARQUARD BACK IN LEAGUE
Another thing the magnates agreed upon was that Rube Marquard has been sufficiently punished and humiliated for his ticket scalping escapade at the world's series in Cleveland last fall. After the magnates had decided not to discipline the veteran southpaw further, an announcement was made that Rube would be in Cincinnati next season and in exchange Dutch Ruether would go to Brooklyn.

Larry Doyle, veteran second sacker of New York and Chicago, let it out that he had been picked as manager of the Toronto team in the International league. John McGraw, who knows McGraw as well as anyone, says Larry will make good up Canada way.

PIRATES ELECT IN JERSEY
Barney Dreyfuss and the other few—meandered over to Jersey City and re-elected Barney president and Sam Waters secretary and treasurer. The meeting was held in Jersey City because the club is a Jersey corporation.

GRACE DEFEATS VAUGHNSVILLE

The Grace M. E. basket ball squad defeated the Vaughnsville quintet in a fast game Wednesday night at the Grace gym, corner Kikky and Eliza—both streets, by a score of 35 to 15. Paul Bacome, coach of South Hi, was the individual star of the game. He repeatedly broke thru the opponent's guards for sensational shots.

DELEGATES TO STATE MEET
At a meeting of the Lima Auto club Wednesday afternoon at the M.K.'s home, three delegates were selected to attend the state meeting in Columbus Friday and Saturday. Those named were: Frank Gehlert, A. M. Herrett and Joe Hartline.

Sporting Chatter Of All Sorts

An international boxing carnival between the leading amateur middleweights and heavyweights of England and the United States, to be held in New York next month, will be the initial international contest in a sport series which promises to make 1921 famous.

Plans for the bouts, which will be held at a place and date to be announced later by the International Sporting club, were virtually completed recently by the club matchmaker, Tex O'Rourke, after a series of conferences in London.

Unless there is an eleventh hour change in the plans, the bouts will bring together the best amateur middleweight and heavyweight boxers of the English and United States armies and navies. The leading champions in these two weight classes of the London police and fire departments will also face opponents from the New York departments. All bouts will be under the regulations of the International Boxing Federation and will have the sanction of the A. A. U.

A movement has been started to make Arthur Irwin, the veteran manager, scout and player, the president of the new International league. A number of the club owners, who will meet in annual session next Monday are dissatisfied with the stand of David L. Fultz in several important league matters and seek to replace him. Irwin has made it plain that he will accept only on condition that all of the owners agree to observe all of the provisions of the league constitution.

Representatives of the American Association and the International league talk of making the series between the pennant winners of the two organizations an annual event and expect it to develop in time to something that will get more attention than did the 1920 series between Baltimore and St. Paul. Nothing has been said about the Pacific Coast league coming in on the series, for distance makes such an arrangement hardly practical.

Umpire George Hildebrand, out in California, furnishes the baseball writers something to fill their columns with now and then. He tells about Babe Ruth as he knows him and one thing the umpire says is that he wishes all batters were like Babe. There are no close ones to be called on the Babe, says Hildy. If they come anywhere near the plate Babe swings on them.

Boston fans may holler loudly over the New York Yankees getting Harry Hooper but what can they do? Their hope seems to lie in Hugh Duffy making such a protest that Harry Frazee will refuse to let the Yankees have the popular outfielder. But would Hooper play ball with the Red Sox again, anyway?

PUGS EAGER TO BATTLE DEMPSEY

(BY HENRY L. FARRELL)

UNITED PRESS STAFF CORRESPONDENT
NEW YORK — Jack Dempsey used to live on fights, but in the last 17 months, he's been starving.

His first battle with Miske, after winning the championship, was some easily masticated cereal; his second bout with Brennan, was a hard lump of gristle.

The champion's teeth need sharpening and they'll probably get it.

HAS SAME TROUBLE
Benny Leonard has the same experience. Rated the best ever in his class, the lightweight champion was considered too good by the aspirants for his title. He couldn't coax a contender in the ring without giving them half the Fourth Liberty loan.

Then he took on the rugged Joe, Welling and it took him a long time to drop the Chicago boy.

Critics said the champion had gone back and his challengers took new heart.

Before Leonard met Welling, Ritchie Mitchell, one of the best on the second step of the throne wanted $35,000 to take Benny's punches. Now, he has signed for a percentage of the receipts that probably will amount to about $20,000.

THINGS SLIDING ROUGH
Already Dempsey is finding things coming the same way. A Pittsburgh club wants him to meet Harry Greb in a ten-round bout in the Smoky City for $50,000. Others of the second string heavies have crawled out of their shells and are seeking the promoters.

Since he rose to fame in London by giving Joe Beckett one of his quarterly or half-yearly knockouts, Frank Moran, the blonde Pittsburgher can be expected to drop a cable challenging Dempsey lost any time.

Willard probably will have little more home for his chances in their return on St. Patrick's day. From his change in style and tactics, Dempsey seems to have made a mistake in training. Quite naturally, he didn't expect Brennan to carry the fight to him and he did most of his work with Bill Tate, the big lumbering colored fellow who is hard to beat down. He worked out with Marty Farrell, the clever middleweight, for speed.

If he had gone thru his paces with Kid Norfolk, the coal-colored man who trained with Brennan, he might have done much better. Norfolk is a rushing, aggressive hard-swinging batter with a punch. He could have done the champion a world of good in warming him up for a miller like Brennan.

STATE ELEVEN WILL HAVE TO FIGHT HARD

BERKELEY, Cal. — Coach

Andy Smith of University of California eleven was rejoicing today in the belief that Herky and McMillan, two of his fastest gunmen, would be entirely recovered from their injuries in time to play against Ohio State at Pasadena, New Year's day. Thirty members of the U. C. squad went thru first practice yesterday preliminary to the big game.

"I do not want to be too optimistic, but it will take a wonderful football aggregation to beat California," Smith said after the workout.

COLUMBUS — University of California's football team, which will meet Ohio State, western conference champion, in the intersectional struggle at Pasadena on New Year's day, had made a splendid record, which shows the aggregation to be one of great offensive and defensive power.

The far western eleven is ably coached by Andy Smith, former University of Pennsylvania player, who later coached at Purdue. Before coming west Smith was one of the assistant tutors at Penn at the time Michigan played home and home games with the Red and Blue.

During the time he was at Purdue Smith turned out teams which were worthy opponents for other Big Ten elevens. The teams were highly coached in fundamentals, while the defense was among the best ever displayed by Boilermaker teams.

Purdue always had a concentrated attack with eleven men in every play, and it is only reasonable to assume Ohio will be called upon to meet just such an offense.

Among California's victims was Washington State college, which submitted to a 49 to 0 defeat. It will be recalled that Washington State defeated Nebraska on Thanksgiving day, 21 to 23. It also will be recalled that the Cornhuskers went east and defeated Rutgers and then gave Penn State a hard battle in addition, Nebraska played great football against Notre Dame.

TROJANS' BEST ON COAST
California has scored 482 points against its opponents' 14 in the eight games played. It ran up 127 points against St. Mary's and defeated Stanford, 38 to 0. Oregon Aggies furnished the stiffest opposition but fell 17 to 7.

Norman Ross, well known swimmer of the Illinois A. C., has been in close touch with the football situation on the coast this fall, and firmly believes California will win. Lines saw the Buckeyes against Chicago, and was not impressed with their showing.

"Unless Ohio can play much better football than it showed against Chicago the Californians will win sure," Ross said. "I have seen a lot of football on the coast, and it appears to me there is little difference in the style of play. The players out there are just as big, fast, and aggressive, and all they need is the coaching. I know the fans out there have confidence in Smith, and for these reasons I look for an Ohio defeat."

RUETHER IS TRADED FOR MARQUARD AT NEW YORK MEET

NEW YORK.—Walter Ruether for "Rube" Marquard, of the champion Brooklyn, was the deal pulled off by Manager Moran for the Reds this morning. The trade was a straight one, player for player and involved no cash or side agreements. It is believed that it will help both clubs, for Ruether was about thru in Cincinnati, but may come back for "Robbie," while Marquard is glad to play with a Western club.

Previous to the making of the trade the National League at its morning session had absolved Marquard of any serious blame for the ticket scalping incident, in which he was mixed up in Cleveland last October.

Marquard has been pitching in the National League for 13 years, the first seven of which were spent with the Giants and the last six with the Brooklyn.

He was secured by McGraw in 1908 from the Indianapolis Club along with Fitcher Durham for the sum of $11,500 which at that time was "considered a reckless price to pay for a pair of minor league players."

APPEARED AGAINST REDS
The Rube's first appearance in a National League game was made at the Polo grounds against the Reds, who promptly and effectively knocked him out of the box. But he came back in a hurry and soon developed into one of the most effective left-handers in the league. His record of 19 straight victories was made a year or two later and stamped him as a steady and consistent performer.

The deal for Marquard was made after two other offers for Ruether had been turned down by Manager Moran. This morning when McGraw offered $25,000 in cash for the Red southpaw and later Manager Ricker, of the Cardinals, offered either Outfielder McHenry or Infielder Javvria for him. Moran considered all three of the propositions carefully.

In accordance with his fixed policy, he turned down the cash offer of McGraw because he wanted a player rather than money.

Pat was willing to take either McHenry or Javvria for Ruether, but preferred a pitcher, and so decided to deal with Brooklyn and thus secure a wise and experienced left-hand hurler to take Ruether's place in the Red box.

RUETHER LED PITCHERS
Ruether led the National League pitchers ten years ago when the Reds won the pennant and he started at a great clip last spring, winning eight out of the first nine games. Then he weakened and was not much use to the club during the latter part of the season.

This was the only deal clinched by the Reds today, but there are several others on the fire. Pittsburgh wants Sam Crane and Manager Moran offered him in exchange for Pitcher Morrison, a young hurler who has just come up from the Burlington club, with a great reputation for effectiveness. This proposition is under consideration.

Manager Gibson, of the Pirates, was forced to leave for his home this afternoon on account of the serious illness of his daughter, and he left the matter of a trade in the hands of President Dreyfus, with whom Herrmann and Moran will confer tomorrow.

Pat also is after infielder Terry, of the Cubs, to take Morrie Rath's place at second base. Rath will not be with the club and it is not certain that Sam Bohne will make good. Pat likes Terry and was looking for Johnny Evers tonight to make an offer for him, but Evers was busy with other matters and it went over until tomorrow.

BIG OFFER FROM MARANVILLE
The Cincinnati club made a very large cash offer for Rabbit Marquard, of the Braves, which owner George Grant has under advisement.

"Last of Mohicans" Thrilling

SIGMA SOLOIST PLEASURES

"The Master Mind" Good Vehicle for Lionel Barrymore

(BY ETHEL WAGNER)
If you like 'em bloody and thum-bony, with brave soldiers and wicked Indians, gun-fights, and knife duels, you must see "The Last of the Mohicans." For that's the kind of picture it is.

James Fenimore Cooper wrote the well-known historical classic which has lent itself to picturization remarkably well. No detail has been omitted to make it thoroughly realistic.
It seems to me, and every one in the competent cast know what they're doing every minute of the time.

The story of how the pioneers were betrayed by the crafty outcast, Magua, is mighty interesting. The character of Uncas, a Mohican prince without a kingdom, as portrayed by Albert Roscoe, is splendid. The two daughters of Colonel Monroe, against whom the Indians plot, and for whom Uncas finally gives his life, are portrayed by Barbara Bedford and Lillian Hall and their characterizations are beautiful.

The entire story cannot be told in these columns, anyway you all know it. Be assured, however, that "The Last of the Mohicans" is every bit as thrilling and compelling as the story. Women, you know, will go to see pictures like "Neglected Wives," but the men fairly eat up things like "The Last of the Mohi-cans," and it is great stuff for the children. Personally, I like mine a little less blood-thirsty.

The Indians in the picture, are thoroughly despicable and in their painted faces and bodies and brandishing long, thin, daggers are enough to scare anyone, even tho they are only screen characters. That's the keynote of the picture, however—Realism.

The scenery and outdoor scenes are beautiful in their very ruggedness, crags and peaks which play so important a part thruout the entire picture are marvelous and if you don't care for the picture itself, you can't help but admire the settings.
Therefore, if you're any kind of an American at all, "The Last of the Mohicans," should fill the bill. It's showing at the Sigma.

looking and expression of Verdi's
"Don Fustale." Surely a brilliant career lies before this gifted young woman.

LIONEL BARRYMORE as an actor in the silent drama is a
lished this fact beyond doubt in "The Copperhead," and in "The Master Mind" his work is sure, smooth and compelling, tho this vehicle by no means furnished him with the opportunity he had in the former.

"The Master Mind" is an epic of revenge. Henry Allen, a stern and lonely man, had known but one love in his life—his powerful affection for his younger brother. Circumstantial evidence brings the boy to trial on a charge of murder. The brilliant work of an assistant district attorney secures his conviction and the victim professes his innocence, he meets death in the chair.

From that moment, Henry Allen became a man with but one idea and motive in life, and that is, that the man who had caused the death of his brother, should in his own life, meet with like tragedy.

There are a number of things that invite a little criticism in this picture. For instance, it seems funny that the adoring elder brother never once attended the trial of the boy he loved so well; that his face should be entirely unknown to the district attorney. Also, the girl in the case is supposed to have won the attorney's love by her brave "rescue" of him from under a burning car. As a matter of fact, all she does is hold his head until help arrives. Little things of course, but noticeable.

However, "The Master Mind" holds your interest all of the time and the cast, with Gypsy O'Brien and Ralph Kellard, is an adequate one.
It's appearing at the Regent.

CANADIAN MOVE IS AT HIGH MARK

Breaks All Records, Immigration Commissioner Shows

MEXICAN ARRIVALS GROW
European Alien Population On Decrease, Report Says

WASHINGTON — (By Associated Press) — Immigration from Canada during the last fiscal year broke all records, and there was a tremendous increase in immigration from Mexico as well as from the European countries. Anthony Cammetti, Commissioner General of Immigration, says in his annual report, made public.

Aliens from Canada admitted to the country first the report says, numbered 90,027 while aliens departing numbered 7,666 leaving an excess of 82,361. In addition 19,336 aliens in Canada who applied for admission were deported while 6,238 were refused examination, the report says, because of inability or unwillingness to meet the head tax requirement.

MEXICAN ARRIVALS
Admission of aliens from Mexico totaled 52,751 while the number of aliens going to Mexico from the United States numbered 6,606 leaving an excess of 46,145. During the previous fiscal year the admissions of Mexican aliens from Mexico numbered 29,818.

Europe sent a total of 246,295 immigrant aliens to the United States in the past fiscal year while 256,433 emigrant aliens left the United States for Europe, causing a decrease in alien population of 10,138. Immigrant aliens admitted from Asia numbered 17,506 and emigrant aliens departing for Asia numbered 9,441 leaving an excess of 8,065.

HIGHEST YEAR

Resumption of immigration on a large scale and efforts to deport alien anarchists made the last fiscal year the busiest of any since the inauguration of the immigration service, the report says, "with indications that pre-war immigration figures would be outdistanced unless affected by laws of this or other countries."

"Chinese immigration," the report continues, "shows an increase over the preceding year, the number of admissions having risen from 3,340 coming for permanent residence in 1919 to 4,660 in 1930, these figures not including aliens of the Chinese race granted transient privileges of the citizen class of Chinese persons there were admitted in all, 188, of whom 897 were of native birth, 843 were born abroad of native born parents and 141 were foreign born were of American citizens of the Chinese race."

HIS LIFE IS SAVED BY ROLLING IN SNOW

CASPER, Wyo. — A thick blanket of snow on the ground here saved the life of W. Wagoner, World War veteran, who has been decorated for bravery in France.

An explosion resulted in Wagoner becoming a "human torch," when his clothing was soaked with flaming gasoline. Rushing from the building where the explosion occurred the former service man rolled in the snow until the flames were extinguished. He suffered severe burns, but will probably recover.

DEMOCRAT RESIGNS

COLUMBUS — George Ewing, Lancaster, Democratic member of the state civil service commission has announced his resignation. He will continue in office to the end of the Governor Cox administration.

MUTT AND JEFF—JEFF'S THERE LIKE A DUCK WITH THE DAVE HARUM STUFF—

SHORT SHAVINGS

A woman entered a London tram car with a crying youngster whom she could not quiet.

As the tram approached a stop, the door opened suddenly and the noisy conductor called loudly: "George's Cries! George's Cries!"

The mother looked up indignantly and replied: "So would you be cross, sir, if you was cuttin' yer back teeth?"

In a small town up-state there was not one person who knew how to play the organ at the church. At last a girl who could play just a few, and very few, hymns at that, came to the town.

One day the preacher asked the organist: "Can you play a wedding march for a wedding tomorrow?"

The organist replied: "I am very sorry, but I do not know one note of a wedding march."

The preacher knew that they must have some kind of music for the wedding, so he said: "Play the nearest thing to a wedding march that you know."

As the bride and bridegroom came down the aisle, "Gward Christian Soldiers" was the tune that rolled forth from the organ.

"With these high prices," said the customer to the grocer, "you must be making a lot of money."

"No," replied the grocer, "I'm not making more money, my customers merely owe me more."

PISO'S

The Easiest Way To End Dandruff

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. This destroys it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.

HEALTH HINTS

By William Brady, M. D.

MANAGEMENT OF CATARACT

Elderly persons developing cataract may have lost most of their keenness of perception for objects at a little distance from the eyes long before they themselves become aware of the fact. They notice rather an increasing difficulty in reading. They cannot find glasses which give clear vision of ordinary print, and if they read considerably in spite of the poor sight they are likely to suffer with headaches, watery eyes and other manifestations of eyestrain. In some instances, a lamp or other bright object appears double or triple. Another characteristic of cataract is the inability to see better in a dim light than in a bright light, and the blurring of the eyes by sunlight.

When the diagnosis of cataract (which can be positively arrived at only by examination of the interior of the eye by the ophthalmoscope) is made in the early or incomplete stage the oculist should carefully correct the defect of sight as nearly as possible with glasses, and the family physician should look after the general conditions which have considerable to do with the outcome. Usually it is advisable to restrict the hours of close work or reading, and to insist upon frequent eye rests.

Interruptions of all near use of the eyes for half an hour. The state of the skin and kidneys must have sufficient outdoor air. Nothing retards or opposes the increase of cataract more than the wholesome, health-conserving habit of a daily constitutional if bright sunshine dazles the eyes, smoked glasses may be worn. It must be remembered that many persons with cataract attain ripe old age without suffering insuperable impairment of vision, and altho no one has found a method of treatment which will cure or absorb cataract, internal medication to fit the individual requirements and eye lesions in certain cases do help to prevent further loss of vision, and apparently to bring about considerable improvement in some cases I refer to no particular remedies; it is for the oculist and physician to select whatever remedies the conditions may call for.

Operation is the only known cure for cataract. Persons with cataract should report to the oculist regularly twice a year for eye examination. Frequent change of glasses is required in most cases.

Operation is performed, usually, under local anesthesia and is practically painless. It lasts but a few minutes, tho the patient is kept under after-treatment for several weeks until healing is complete. In about half the cases a slight secondary operation is necessary in order to bring about the clearest possible vision. Of course a focusing apparatus (glasses) equal in focusing power with the degenerated lens removed must be worn by the patient for good vision. The operation is a success, restoring very useful vision in most cases. Now and then, even in the most skillful hands, inflammation follows, and the operation proves a failure.

BY PHILIP FRANCIS ROWLAND
VARIATIONS — Pomeroy, Lapommaraya, Appoyard, Appoyard.
RACIAL ORIGIN — Norman-French.
SOURCE — A family.
Pomeroy is a family name belonging to that group which originated as descriptive of the locality in or near which the original bearers of the name lived. It means "apple yard."
It is an old name in England, being traceable back to the days of Norman dominance, in which, together with the period following it, most of the English family names developed into such from more descriptive phrases.
The original form of the name, as it is found in the old records is "de la Pommeraye" ("of the Apple yard"), but the Saxonized version appeared quite early, at first in the form of "Atte Appoyard," and later with the prefix eliminated.
Pomeroy, of course, is simply a variation from Pomeroy in the development of the spelling from "Pommeroy." While Pomeroy in some instances is more recently imported from France, the more usual form of the name as existing in that country today is Lapommaraya.

There has been little difference in the manner in which the true French and the Anglo-French family names have developed. In many cases they are almost identical. The principal difference in trend, except in the large class of family names formed from diminutives of given names, has been the dropping of all prefixes in England, while the French have dropped the "de" quite often, have tended to retain the "la" or "le."

OPEN LETTERS

To New Chamber of Commerce Directors
DEAR BOYS: Greetings! I want to congratulate you on being at the helm of what promises to be the best Chamber of Commerce I ever had. You have a big year before you and I am certain you will make good.
LIMA BEANE

To Prosecutor John L. Cable
DEAR JOHN: The grand jury to which you introduced information made a recommendation for a shake-up in my police department. It failed, however, to indict any of my policemen. If you have any facts to show a change should be made, please let me have it. If you do not the entire department gets a black eye thru the indefinite recommendation.
LIMA BEANE

To Lima Merchants
FRIENDS: Thank you for your decision to keep your stores open nights in order that I may buy my Christmas gifts after working hours. It will help a great deal for I would not have been able to do my shopping during your regular hours.
LIMA BEANE

To S. M. Fletcher
MY DEAR SAM: I want to congratulate you on your victory in winning the recommendation of the Republican caucus as first assistant sergeant at arms of the house, at Columbus.

Since the next legislature is overwhelmingly Republican, there probably is no danger of your falling to land the place. You can make it a lifetime job, Sam, if you wish, provided the legislature continues Republican. If it doesn't—well, you'll then be a used-to-be sergeant at arms.
Here's hoping you'll enjoy your new place immensely.
LIMA BEANE

To Trustees of City Hospital
MY FRIENDS: The staff of the City hospital was right in asking those of you who do not attend meeting to resign. You should take no offense. If you are not interested enough to attend meetings, then it is your duty to make room for those who are.
LIMA BEANE

To High School Girls
DEAR NIECES: I notice that many of you are following the teachings of Dr. Brady, health expert, and are carrying your hats to school these cool mornings. I have implicit faith in his doctrines, but it does make me shiver to see you hatless with the wind blowing a gale and the mercury registering lower than the freezing point.
LIMA BEANE

To Postmaster Sullivan
DEAR JIM: I have been told that you anticipate a big Santa Claus rush next week, when Christmas parcels will be pouring into Lima's cramped postoffice quarters. You have my sympathy, for I know how crowded for space you and your boys are in ordinary times. Consequently, when thousands of extra parcels begin rolling in, I can see your finish. And, too, when packages reach their destination after Christmas, you'll be the goat for those who register a kick, altho it isn't your fault. I feel sure that if Postmaster General Burleson really knew how mail is too often delayed after it leaves the sending office, he'd try to remedy the situation.
LIMA BEANE

To Property Owners in Outlying Districts
DEAR FRIENDS: Many of you own property in new sections where there are no sidewalks. In summer the paths are full of weeds and in winter full of mud. Why not have walks put in or at least do something that will make it possible for me to walk thru your neighborhood. It will enhance the value of your property and oblige
LIMA BEANE

To Harry E. Horner
CAPTAIN JACK: I felt certain all along that the manner in which you have been directing the affairs of my Lima E Troop of cavalry, would finally win for you recognition, somewhere. Consequently I was not surprised when informed that you were chosen as one of the military attendants to Governor-elect Harry L. Davis, on the occasion of his inauguration. Maybe tho, it was politics that brought you the honor, but it doesn't make any difference how it came about. It's an honor to you to be thus favored and you'll do honor to the occasion for yourself and Lima.
LIMA BEANE

To Hugh C. Wallace
MY DEAR HUGH: I feel that it was a very foolish thing you did in Paris the other night when you snubbed Wilhelm Mayer, German ambassador to France, because the United States is technically at war with Germany. I'll admit that Mayer should not have sought to meet you, as United States Ambassador to France, but, having done so, as I see it, you should not have been so rude as to refuse.
The real American idea is to be big, broad and generous.
LIMA BEANE

To the Public Utilities Commission
GENTLEMEN: Please allow me to express my sincere thanks for your stand in the gas controversy in which I am involved. An order from you to the producing company that it furnish me with sufficient gas will prevent much suffering. There may be various ideas concerning the settlement of this question but the big thing is to get gas NOW. I need it.
LIMA BEANE

To the Public
YOU will be asked soon to fill my Community Chest. You know for what purpose this money is to be used—the relief of the worthy poor. If you are observing you know of many such cases and realize the need for this fund, handled thru one department which will eliminate duplications, and in the most efficient manner.
I will need $100,000 for this work for the year. I will not ask you again during the year for donations for any charitable work. I am counting on you to do the noble thing and contribute generously on Christmas day.
LIMA BEANE

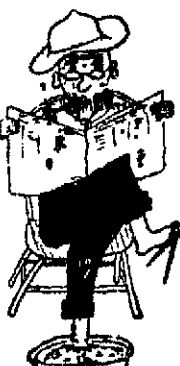

To City Officials
FRIENDS: My new boulevard lighting system has caused much favorable comment and is the biggest improvement I have had in years. I notice, however, that some of the new lights are out occasionally. Please direct those responsible to keep them in burning order.
LIMA BEANE

To Newspaper Subscribers
WHY not save yourself and others much annoyance by placing a weight—a brick will do—on your front porch so your newsboy may make secure your paper and insure it being there when you look for it?
LIMA BEANE

To Teachers of Pemmanship
WHEN I look in one of my children's copy books I see the same senseless phrases I copied years ago. Why not insist that these books be brought up to date with slogans to impress the youngsters and make their work less burdensome?
LIMA BEANE

To Automobile Drivers
MANY of you thoughtlessly make too much noise when passing my hospitals. Patients who are seriously ill are annoyed. Please eliminate as much clattering and banging and horn blowing as possible when passing these institutions.

OLD SCISSORS SAYS:
Nature has done more than anyone else to help solve the gas problem in Lima this December.

The most unemployment to be found in any one place in Lima is in the City Council.

We're more optimistic, but we would rather feel that "sufficient supply" of gas before offering comment.

A lot of Lima men have tried, but few of them have succeeded, in fooling themselves with a bottle of hair dye.

The fellow who invented the dollar probably thought that he turned out quite a piece of work. So did the one who invented the high-wheeled bicycle, but they lacked vision. Both neglected to add the element of speed required by the present generation. We hear a good deal about the days of real sport. It was also quite exciting back in the days of real dollars.

It's an ill wind—while the coal men are grumbling about the weather the ice men are smiling.

A Boston woman's pet dog wears goggles when automobiling to prevent eye strain. They were fitted by an oculist.

Continues the report: "Name appears to regard them as a necessity, but is glad to be relieved of them for play with his consort Tessie, unspectacled."

As Maratin said to the Chevalier D'Artagnan: "Twaddle, my kind sir, twaddle."

What we need now, in the language of our president, is an open winter openly arrived at.

The price of beef soon will go up again. Hook 'em, Cow!

Constantine seems to have pulled a regular Harding in Greece.

The milk of human kindness also seems to have gone up several cents a quart. At least it is more expensive than ever before.

MORE TAXES

They've taxed my meager income
And they've taxed my house and lot;
They've taxed my small investments,
And most everything I've got.

And now they'll tax my fiddle
And my goldfish and my cat,
My soap and gum and matches
And my fuzzy winter hat.

They'll tax my fireless cooker
And my nail file and my clocks,
My toothbrush and my jackknife
And my shirts and ties and socks.

My Ingersoll, my razor,
My typewriter and my breath,
And they'll keep right on taxing
Till they've taxed this bird to death.

And when I lie, all dignified,
With my placed so neat,
I hope they'll tax my harp and crowns
And make the job complete.

Miss Gladys Howard, a teacher of Science in the London High school, will spend the holidays with her parents, Rev. and Mrs. W. H. Howard, 332 S. Pine-st.

There was Yuletide in the air Thursday with just enough snow and a bracing breeze to make the first Christmas music in the form of a recital given by the Women's Music club at Memorial Hall most enjoyable. The stage was attractive with miniature glittering Christmas trees in the foreground. Red and green formed the background.

As usual the Music club chorus opened the program with the hymn "Then Come All Ye Faithful" and later "Silent Night" and "O, Little Town of Bethlehem." The second number was (a) Nocturne in F, Minor, op. 65, by Chopin; (b) Prelude in G, Minor, op. 23, number 5, by Rachmaninoff, played by Harry Kleinberger, a youth who is very talented and plays with unusual freedom for one of his age. To repeated recalls he finally played Grieg's "In Delicate Mood" and "The Angel Song," by William Stekler was beautifully sung by Mrs. Joe Davidson, who has a charming lyric soprano voice. She was accompanied by violin, cello and piano, played by Mrs. Gale Dunifon, Mrs. A. Dimond and Mrs. Harry McDonald. The Christmas spirit was in the reading, "Why the Chimes Rang," by Raymond MacDonald Aiden, given most interestingly by Mrs. Winona Vinson Forster.

"The Annunciation" by Woodman was wonderfully interpreted by Mrs. Fred Gooding, Mrs. R. O. Woods, James Grubb and Fred Calvert, with Mrs. Fred Calvert at the piano.

Aside from Christmas music one of Lima's most talented groups of musicians, Mrs. Dunifon, Mrs. Dimond, Miss Feltz, with violin, cello and piano, gave the four movements "Allegro Non Troppo," "Allegretto," "Andante Sostenuto" and "Andante Espressivo" from A. Luginor's Ballet Egyptian.

GAS FOR LIMA IS ON WAY

By an agreement effected at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon between the Medina Gas & Fuel Co., the Lima Natural Gas Co. and the Public Utilities Commission, gas for Lima will be turned on immediately by the producing company.

The agreement was made over the telephone. It will require several hours for the supply to reach the city, depending on weather conditions. The agreement is effective until further orders, at least for 30 days.

PAY FOR LIGHTS IS HELD UP

Faulty Material in Boulevard System Must be Replaced

"Citizens who have been wondering why a few of the new boulevard lighting standards are not in service and why some lights are brighter than others, should have an explanation of the condition," Service Director Elmer McClain said Friday. "The system as it now exists has not been paid for and will not be," the Service said. "Until defects have been taken care of, faulty construction is the cause of the impaired service and new parts have been ordered by the contractor to make the necessary changes. Eighteen of the lights burn all night and 82 only until midnight. The all-night lights are on a different circuit and are provided with stronger current. This is the reason they throw a brighter light."

McClain stated that the seven lights in which faulty material developed will be replaced soon. In the recent wind storm seven top globes on boulevard lighting standards were broken.

From the new boulevard lighting district, Main-st. from the Penna. R. R. to the square and High-st. from Union to West-st., seven arc lights have been removed and placed elsewhere. Two gas standards have also been removed.

In an estimate given Service Director McClain by Engineer G. Herman Ganser, the cost of operating the new systems, 100 standards, is $1 per hour. These lights are cheaper than the arc system, McClain said.

AIRSHIPS WITH WIRELESS WILL LOCATE SEAL HERDS ON ICE FLOES OF ARCTIC

LONDON—The River Thames has been the starting place of many a naval venture, but surely of none more novel than that which set sail recently in the steamer Alconada, for Newfoundland.

On board the Alconada were four non-rigid airships which are to be used next spring in a first attempt by means of aerial observation and wireless telegraphy to direct the course of the steamers which set out each year from St. Johns in search of the seal herds which come drifting down on the ice from the far north.

The expedition which has been organized and is being taken over by Frank J. Tipton, consulting engineer and constructor to the Newfoundland Government and a well known expert on the design of large commercial airships, is a very complete one. Three of the four airships are of the sea-scouting type which, during the war, did such valuable work in the detecting of enemy submarines and earned the nickname of "blimps."

The fourth is a larger airship of the same type, driven by a couple of Rolls Royce engines.

The party includes two airship pilots of whom the chief is Captain Williams, an officer who distinguished himself during the war in air work over the North Sea.

In addition there is a wireless expert, while the party also includes the necessary engineers and riggers. The airship station in Newfoundland will be established at Bedford on the Exploits River. Here a permanent hangar will be erected, with a hydrogen-producing plant, and the base will also comprise a wireless station and meteorological department.

Probably two of the airships will be employed in the first seal locating trip, which will be made early next year.

They will fly out over the North Atlantic and keep in touch during their observations by means of wireless with the fleet of sealing steamers which puts out to sea each year from its base at St. Johns with the intention of intercepting the vast herds of young seals congregated on the moving ice.

SLAMS GIRLS WHO WEAR BIG EAR PUFFS

WORCESTER, Mass.—"Don't aggravate fashion as girls do, who wear such huge ears of hair over their ears that they resemble African savages," was the advice given to members of the Worcester Woman's Club, an exclusive and fashionable society, by James Parton Hanley, director of art in the New York high schools.

His lecture topic was: "Taste and the Fashionable Girl." He pointed out that a girl of maturing years should not be a matter of cost. He bawled women on the real arbiters of fashion, style and taste.

SOCIETY

A meeting of the Junior Queen Esther Circle of the M. E. church was held Thursday afternoon at the home of Miss Marjorie and Beth Ackerman. Miss Aronson Munnaugh was assistant hostess. Following the study hour conducted by Miss Elizabeth Lippincott, refreshments were served by the hostesses.

Miss Elizabeth Moulton will arrive Thursday evening from North Hampton, Mass., where she is a student at Miss Capen's school, to spend the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Moulton, W. Market-st.

The members of the C. W. W. club and their husbands will be entertained Sunday evening at the home of Mrs. C. F. Weimert, Blackfoot-st. Wapakoneta. Mrs. George Fennig is the assistant hostess.

Great Sacrifice Sale

Newspapers, manufacturers and men of affairs are accusing the retailers of blocking the wheels of industry by holding up the movement of merchandise through refusal to sell at the loss called for by the present replacement prices. We leave it to you to judge from this announcement, and a view of the values offered, whether Brosseau can be included in this group.

BISHOP IS DEFIANT TO BRITAIN

Seems Offered Sympathy in Slaying of Churchman

RESULT OF IRISH BATTLE

Death List Grows as Clashes Are Continued

LONDON (By United Press)

The government of Great Britain Friday worked over snarled conditions in Ireland, endeavoring to find the strand that will lead to peace.

Among the snarls were recurrence of shootings and reprisals, amendments to the Irish home rule bill, the efforts of laborites toward peace, and the uncompromising attitude of Sinn Féin leaders and sympathizers.

The latter was represented Friday in the message from Bishop Cullen, of Cork, to the commander of the Royal Irish constabulary in the burned city. The commander had wired the prelate, expressing his sorrow that a cadet should have wantonly shot Father Magner, who intervened in behalf of a peasant quarreling with a policeman.

SYMPATHY REFUSED
"I cannot accept or convey to relatives the verbal sympathy of an inspector general, whose men are murdering my people and who have turned my city," the bishop declared.

The inspector general had wired the bishop: "Please accept my sympathy in the appalling death of Father Canon Magner and convey to his relatives my deep sorrow and sincere sympathy."

The cadet who shot the priest faced court martial Friday. His name was not made public by authorities.

He was charged with having shot Timothy Crowley, a peasant, and then turned on the priest who intervened in the quarrel which preceded the shooting. The cadet's own mates took him to barracks, where he was placed under arrest.

BOLDNESS ATTACKED
Meanwhile, other violence occurred with an attack by nearly 100 armed Sinn Féiners on a small detachment of soldiers.

A motor lorry, much like the old prairie schooner, except for its power, rolled along the road at Newry, near Tipperary.

The soldiers were instantly alert as yells rang out and rifles cracked from ledges over stone walls along the road. The soldiers replied as best they could but it was believed they were unable to do damage to Sinn Féiners who remained hidden.

Four of the soldiers were killed before the machine had dashed through the ambush.

Laborites here submitted their peace plans to Premier Lloyd-George Thursday night and were said to believe that peace can be accomplished shortly. It was rumored that connection with Sinn Féin leader has not been lost entirely and that a truce may be arranged.

Passage of the home rule bill is considered certain Saturday when the house of lords is expected to adopt changes made by the house of commons.

HER OWN CAREER

By FETTER PHILLIPS

THE GREAT DECISION

"Fern, dear, I don't want to go back to Miller'sville," announced Gwenda over her second cup of coffee one morning about two weeks after her arrival in New York.

Her cousin looked up at her quickly, stared for a minute, and then burst out laughing.

"Of course, you don't, goose; did you think that I didn't know that? No reason in the world for you to go so, either. Plenty of room in this town for a girl like you, and any amount of opportunity for you to make good in whatever sort of work you want to do."

"It's not only that I want a chance to do something really big here, while I am young, Fern," went on Gwenda reflectively, "but I don't want to go back to Miller'sville and the life there, anyhow. I simply couldn't show," said she, with a tragic break in her voice. "I'm all stricken in my mind, and I don't know what I want to do, nor where I want to go. I just want to be my own, and feel that I am free to fly anywhere, and in my own way."

"No time like the present," responded Fern, "and another thing, Gwenda, even if you did go home now, as your mother evidently wants you to do, you'd never stay. You're on the restless road at present, and you've got to follow it a good bit farther before you'll be satisfied to turn back and become a vegetable again. Take my advice and decide what you think is best. But do not be in a hurry, my dear."

Gwenda smiled and kicked off one orange slipper at these words, then fell to studying her pink toes earnestly. She was an entirely different girl from the one who had come down day after day at the farm, primly attired in a gray dress and a starched apron, ready for the morning's chores. Her black hair was now fluffed loosely about her shoulders, and she wore a vivid orange negligee, caught here and there with knots of black, which was startling picturesque, as well as becoming to her.

Gwenda had turned to color with a stretch and a sigh of delight. From babyhood she had been taught to avoid all colors, and had been forced to be content with wearing drabs and grays, with an occasional discreet blue for special gala occasions. Yet she had adored the flames in the evening sky, and the burning brightness of autumn tints more than anything else in the world. As a child, she had cried many times for a scarlet dress, and rebelled most bitterly at her mother's outbursts of disapproval at what she termed her wild taste.

"Nice girls don't wear red, and no child of mine is going to be dressed up like a peppinjay," had been the final verdict. And so, thru the years Gwenda had gone color-hungry and suppressed.

It was no wonder, then, that she had taken the first opportunity to give full rein to her passion for the gladness of blue at its brightest, gold and orange and red at their maddest, not to mention a long list of other colors that she affected before she had been a week at her cousin's studio.

"I feel so wonderful, so light and so unbound in these clothes that I have now," she explained to Fern, after a round of shopping in which every conceivable color and garment had been bought. "And in those awful things that I wear at home, I feel stuffy and imprisoned. That's another reason why I won't go home now," she finished, with a kick to the other slipper. "I've decided and I'm going to stand by my decision and taste. Life first-hand radiantly attired for a while at any rate. Everyone likes me here, Fern, and it makes me feel so happy and important. You're no liar. Why, it's all going to my head, just like that wine did the other night. I feel dizzy with my own possibilities, that's all!"

"I understand," said Fern, then, remembering her promise to Gwenda, the first evening of Gwenda's arrival.

al, she studied her cousin's face closely as she remarked, earnestly enough.

"By the way, Gwenda, did it ever occur to that you would be very scrumptious for the stage?"

Gwenda's face flamed with excitement at this remark and she choked with a strong emotion, as she answered, ecstatically: "Why, Fern, that's just what I've been thinking about for the last three days now. How on earth did you know about it? And Fern, some of the girls have begged me to join their theater and, oh, how I want to—how I want to, Fern."

THE MIDDLE TEMPLE MURDER

BY J. S. FLETCHER

"Well, sir, there was a gentleman name alone, down this grand hall that we were sitting in—a tall, handsome gentleman, with a gray beard. He'd no hat on, and he was carrying a lot of paper and documents in his hand, so I thought he was a member of the House. And all of a sudden this here man at my side, he jumps up with a sort of start and an exclamation, and—"

Spargo lifted his hand. He looked keenly at his visitor.

"Now, you're absolutely sure about what you heard him exclaim?" he asked. "Quite sure about it? Because I see you are going to tell us what he did exclaim."

"I'll tell you naught but what I'm certain of," replied Webster. "What he said as he jumped up was 'Good God! He's a sharp like—and right catch it, but it sounded like Dainesworth' or Painesworth, or something of that sort—one of them there, or very like 'em, at any rate. And then he rushed up to this here gentleman, and laid his hand on his arm—sudden-like."

"And—the gentleman?" asked Spargo, quietly.

"Well, he seemed taken aback sir. He jumped. Then he stared at the man. Then they shook hands. And then, after they'd spoken a few words together-like, they walked off, talking. And, of course, I never saw your paper this morning, sir, and that picture in it, I said to myself 'That's the man I sat next to in that hall at the House of Commons! Oh, there no doubt of it, sir!'"

"And supposing you saw a photograph of the tall gentleman with the gray beard?" suggested Spargo. "Could you recognize him from that?"

"Make no doubt of it, sir," answered Mr. Webster. "I observed him particular."

Spargo rose, and going over to a cabinet, took from it a thick volume, the leaves of which he turned over several times.

"Come here, if you please, Mr. Webster," he said.

The farmer went across the room. "There is a full set of photographs of members of the present House of Commons here," said Spargo.

"Now, pick out the one you saw. Take your time—and be sure."

He left his caller and went back to Breton.

"There!" he whispered. "Getting nearer—a bit nearer—eh?"

"To what?" asked Breton. "I don't see—"

A sudden exclamation from the farmer interrupted Breton's remark.

"This is him, sir!" answered Mr. Webster. "That's the gentleman—know him anywhere?"

The two young men crossed the room. The farmer was pointing a stubby finger to a photograph, beneath which was written Stephen Aylmore, Esq., M. P. for Brookminster.

"That's the gentleman, sir," replied Webster. "Done to the life, that is. No difficulty in recognizing of that, Mr. Spargo."

"You're absolutely sure?" demanded Spargo. "There are a lot of men in the House of Commons, you know, who wear beards and many of the beards are gray.

But Webster wagged his head. "That's him, sir," he repeated. "I'm as sure of that as I am that my name's William Webster. That's the man I saw talking to him whose picture you've got in your paper. Can't say no more, sir."

"Very good," said Spargo. "I'm much obliged to you. I'll see Mr. Aylmore. Leave me your address in London, Mr. Webster. How long do you remain in town?"

"My address is the Beachfront Hotel, Bloomsbury, sir, and I shall be there for another week," answered the farmer. "Hope I've been of some use, Mr. Spargo. As I says to my wife—"

Spargo cut his visitor short in politeness and bowed him out. He turned to Breton, who still stood staring at the album of portraits.

"There!—what did I tell you?" he said. "Didn't I say I should get some news? There it is."

Breton nodded his head. He seemed thoughtful.

"Yes," he agreed. "Yes," I say, Spargo!

"Well!"

"Mr. Aylmore is my prospective father-in-law, you know."

"Quite aware of it. Didn't you introduce me to his daughters—only yesterday?"

"But—how did you know they were his daughters?"

Spargo laughed and sat down to his desk.

"Instinct—intuition," he answered. "However, never mind that just now. Well—I've found something out, Marbury—if that is the dead man's real name, and anyway, it's all we know him by—was in the company of Mr. Aylmore that night. Good!"

"What are you going to do about it?" asked Breton.

"Do? See Mr. Aylmore, of course!"

He was turning over the leaves of a telephone address book; one hand had already picked up the mouthpiece of the instrument on his desk.

"Look here," said Breton. "I know where Mr. Aylmore is always to be found at 12 o'clock. At the A. and F.—the Atlantic and Pacific Club, you know, in St. James's. If you like, I'll go with you."

Spargo glanced at the clock and laid down the telephone.

"All right," he said. "Eleven o'clock now. I've something to do. I'll meet you outside the A. and P. at exactly noon."

"I'll be there," agreed Breton. He made for the door, and with his hand on it, turned. "What do you expect from what we've just heard?" he asked.

Spargo shrugged his shoulders.

"Wait—until we hear what Mr. Aylmore has to say," he answered. "I suppose this man Marbury was some old acquaintance."

Breton closed the door and went away. Left alone, Spargo began to mutter to himself.

"Good God!" he says. "Dainesworth—Painesworth—something of that sort—one of the two. Excellent—that our farmer friend should have so much observation. Ah!—and why should Mr. Stephen Aylmore be recognized as Dainesworth or Painesworth or something of that sort. Now, who is Mr. Stephen Aylmore—beyond being what I know him to be."

Spargo's fingers went instinctively to one of a number of books of reference which stood on his desk; they turned with practiced swiftness to a page over which his eye ran just leaving the office, hailed a taxicab and ordered its driver to take him to the Anglo-Orient Hotel. This was the something-to-do of which he had spoken to Breton; Spargo wanted to do it alone.

Mrs. Walters was in her low-windowed office when Spargo entered the hall; she recognized him at once and motioned him into her parlor.

"I remember you," said Mrs. Walters. "You came with the detective—Mr. Rathbury."

"Have you seen him, since?" asked Spargo.

"No—since," replied Mrs. Walters. "No—and I was wondering, if he'd be coming round because—"

She paused there and looked at Spargo with particular enquiry—"You're a friend of his, aren't you?" she asked. "I suppose you know as much as he does—about this?"

Toledo Woman Says Her Rheumatism and Other Troubles were Overcome by Tanlac — Gains 16 Pounds

"Just think of it, I only weighed a hundred and one pounds when I began taking Tanlac but now I weigh one hundred and seventeen," declared Mrs. W. J. Gracey, of 413 Twelfth St., Toledo.

"I had been suffering for three or four years from a number of ailments and my health was simply broken down. I had a bad form of stomach trouble and it did not seem to make any difference how careful I was about eating, I always suffered afterwards. My appetite was extremely poor and I fell off a great deal in weight. Then I had rheumatism so bad in my arms that I could not raise my hand up to my head."

"My head ached a lot and often I became so dizzy I had to lie down or sit down right quick or I would fall. I had regular spells of nervousness and my sleep was always broken and restless for all through the night I would wake up with a jump and start. I was so weak that the housework was a burden and I didn't know which way to turn for relief. But I'm glad to say it is a different story with me now. Tanlac has restored my health completely and I have gained sixteen pounds in weight. I have a wonderful appetite and enjoy everything I eat for it all agrees with me perfectly. I don't feel a trace of the rheumatism or nervousness any more and don't know what it is to have a headache. I sleep soundly and feel so much stronger that the housework doesn't seem to tire me one bit. Tanlac is certainly a great medicine."

Tanlac is sold in Lima at Hunter's Drug Stores and the leading druggist in every town.—Adv

AMERICAN LEAGUE IS IN SESSION TODAY; JOHNSON ATTENDS

By HENRY L. FARRELL.
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)
NEW YORK.—The stage for this winter's baseball show was further cluttered here Friday by the arrival of Ban Johnson and his American League troupe.

Instead of the gory melodrama that was enacted last year, the American Leaguers are booked to go thru an interpretative dance depicting "peace" at their annual session here Friday afternoon.

The audience, consisting of the National League forces and a flock of minor league managers, looking for crumbs from the big league table, were expecting a short and sweet session.

Ratification of the new national agreement, approval of a 154-game schedule starting April 13, and favorable action on the suggestion to let the spitballers work onto the end of their days are known items of new business.

Routine business attending the selection of a board of directors, may cause some friction, altho the "faithful five" insist the war with the insurgent trio is over.

Jacob Ruppert, Charles Comiskey, Harry Frazee and James G. Dunn are due for their turn on the board.

If President Johnson permits the selection of this board, three of his arch enemies will be around to annoy him for a year and Ban doesn't like to be annoyed.

Among the hotel lobby activities, the naming of managers for the Detroit Tigers and the St. Louis Browns, will be of interest.

Ty Cobb is to be present at the session, and, according to the talk, which President Navin is not taking pains to deny, the Georgia Peach will be offered a contract calling for $30,000 a year, to take up the reins that Hugh Jennings dropped.

Bobby Quinn, only smiled when asked about the new Brown manager.

"We're looking around," he said. However, gossip says Lee Fohl, former pilot of the Indians, will be named, altho the announcement may not be made at this meeting.

DEMPSEY GOING HOME FOR XMAS

NEW YORK.—Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion, is on his way to Seattle Friday, where he will spend the Christmas holidays at home.

Before leaving the champion complained about severe criticism that had been made of his work against Bill Brennan.

"Seems like I got all the panning and Brennan didn't get a bit of credit for the fine showing he made," the champion said. "Brennan is an awful hard boy to beat and because I didn't finish him in a couple of rounds they say I've gone back."

Dempsey admitted that he trained too long for the bout and was somewhat stale when he entered the ring.

ILLINI CAGE SQUAD HAS NEW MEN

URBANA, Ill. — Prospects for a championship basketball team at the University of Illinois were considerably diminished when Carney, All-Western End, dislocated his knee in the Ohio State football game. Carney will be on crutches until after the Christmas vacation and then will have to rest several weeks before he can play.

Captain Frank Winters, former mentor of the strong Rockford, Ill. high school quintet has started to work with a vengeance however, despite the big handicap. The varsity football players have reported after a short rest and the total number now practicing exceeds the 100 mark.

SIX VETERANS

Captain Vail, guard Walquist and Mee, forwards, and three substitutes, Reisch, Fletcher and Collins, are the only veterans on the squad.

A goodly number of last season's yearlings are on hand, but so far none has displayed any real merit.

Winters will have to develop at least three men out of the squad, however, in order to have an ample supply of substitutes.

Reisch is taking Carney's old place at center, but is not making great progress. Walquist and Mee will likely return to their old berths at forward and Captain Vail is certain of the job at back guard.

Collins is the leading candidate for the position of running guard.

Carney's loss is a blow from which the Indians may not recover. He has few equals at the game and the whole Illini play is built around him.

There is a chance that he will be in shape for the games on the last half of the schedule, but a dislocated knee is always troublesome and moreover Coach Zuppke wants to keep him in shape for the next gridiron campaign.

REVIVE TALK OF NATIONAL FIELD MEET

CHICAGO.—The question of holding a national collegiate track, field and relay meet will come before the national collegiate Athletic Association, at its annual meeting, December 29, it was learned today.

The proposed meet was discussed informally at the meeting of the organization in New York a year ago, but did not meet with great favor. Since that time, the idea has become popular according to General Palmer Pierce, president of the association.

Coaches and officials of the mid-west approve of the plan, it was said, and the first meet may be held some time during the spring.

Winners of sectional meets would contend for the national championships in some centrally located city under the plan.

THIS PLAYER IS TO PILOT BOSTON NINE

FRED MITCHELL
Fred Mitchell, let out as manager of the Chicago Cubs, has been signed to succeed George Stallings as pilot of the Boston Braves. Stallings resigned a short time ago after eight years at the helm. Boston fans are looking to Mitchell to pull the Braves out of the baseball rut in which they have been running since 1914.

BIG LEAGUE MEETS END IN N. Y.

NEW YORK.—The annual meeting of the American League here today, which is most important business was ratification of the new baseball agreement, marked the last of a series of important baseball gatherings in this city. It also was the first plenary meeting of the American League since three of its members temporarily seceded last month to force action on a general reorganization of the sport.

An unusually placid atmosphere hovered over early conferences of managers, contrary to recent American League traditional meetings and little, if any, disagreement was anticipated. The majority of the managers predicted the new constitution would be ratified "without a ripple."

Selection of managers for the Detroit and St. Louis teams was expected to be formally announced. It was considered a certainty that Ty Cobb would be chosen to manage the Tigers and Lee Fohl was generally mentioned as St. Louis' selection.

OLDSMOBILE AGENCY MOVES

H. C. Thew, distributor for Oldsmobile cars and trucks, has leased the location at 127 W. Elm-st, where he is showing the complete line.

Mr. Thew has received congratulations from his many friends in Lima and surrounding territory on his ability to secure the agency for this attractive line.

TOLEDO TEAM PLAYS HERE TONIGHT

After a strenuous workout, last night in the Central Ill gymnasium, the American Legion basketball quintet is in fine shape for their fray tonight at Memorial Hall with the strong Toledo Olympics.

Manager Costello said this morning that he expects the largest crowd of the season to witness the game, due to the fact they are one of the best cage teams in the middle west, who have been undefeated so far this year, are scheduled to play.

A large number of tickets have been sold, he says, and every indication points to a packed house.

Ten members of the Toledo team arrived in Lima shortly before noon and intended to hold a short practice in Memorial Hall this afternoon in preparation for one of their hardest games of the season.

The main game will start promptly at 8:15. A preliminary between the Garford girls' team and the Gramm-Bernstein feminine squad will start at 7:30.

Two hours of dancing will be enjoyed after the big game.

GOPHERS HAD OFF SEASON, FANS SAY

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn.—Minnesota's disastrous 1920 football season, when it lost its "Big Ten" games, was without parallel in Gopherdom, a diligent search of the athletic records reveals.

Dr. H. L. Williams has coached Minnesota at football for twenty-one years, including the season just closed, and in that time Minnesota eleven have played 162 games, winning 128, losing 29 and tying 5. This is percentage of 81.

HAS GOOD RECORD

In that time Minnesota scored 4,601 points to her opponents 692, and in one year, 1904, her season's count was 727 to her opponents 126. That year the Gophers counted 146 points in a game with Grinnell (Iowa) college, which was held scoreless. This is the Gopher high mark for a single game in 21 years.

Up to 1920, only four times had teams scored more than 20 points on a Gopher eleven, and the worst beating Minnesota ever received was at the hands of Chicago, in 1908, when the final count was 29 to 0. No other team has scored that many points against the Gophers.

In the season just closed, two teams counted more than 20 points against Minnesota. Iowa led with 24 points, and Indiana got over with 21 points.

MIX-UP MAY RESULT IN CALLING OFF OF BIG FIGHT

A lively meeting of the boxing commission was held last night, at which time an attempt was made to rake together enough coin to post as a forfeit with the commission for the proposed show to be held at Memorial Hall New Year's afternoon under auspices of the Spanish War veterans.

It developed late Thursday that the commission would require a $1,000 forfeit posted for the fight. Ed Schlatter, who is matchmaker, notified the War Veterans, who flatly refused to put up the cash.

PRINCETON TO PLAY WITTENBERG NEW YEAR'S

SPRINGFIELD.—Undaunted by their defeat of 27-26 at the hands of Ohio State last week, Wittenberg's basketball squad is practicing hard for their second game which will be with Princeton University at Springfield on New Year's night.

Wittenberg players will practice next week with Ohio State players at Columbus, according to Coach Godfrey. Wittenberg will have the use of the gymnasium for practice in the day time and will stage regular games with the Dukes each night.

LUTHERANS STRONG

Ohio State coaches in extending the invitation to Wittenberg to practice at Columbus, said that they consider the Lutherans to be as strong opposition as they will have anywhere on their Western Conference schedule.

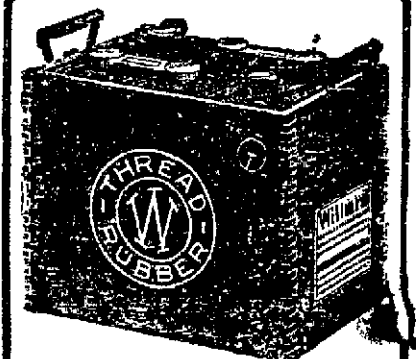

I was also announced that the Ohio State players will attend the Wittenberg-Princeton game here in a body, as Ohio State meets Princeton two nights later at Columbus.

Coach Godfrey announced that two more conference games have been added to Wittenberg's schedule. They are with Hiram on January 7, and Otterbein on January 14, both at Springfield.

In a hard fought game Thursday afternoon Wittenberg's varsity defeated the Freshmen by a score of 30-17. During the first period the Freshman held the varsity to a 12-10 count. The Freshman basket ball turnout is the largest in Wittenberg's history.

The Princeton game will be an unusual local attraction as Stanley Nettis, captain of the Tigers, is a Springfield boy and a former Wittenberg basketball star. Already the seating capacity of Memorial Hall, where the game will be held, has been sold out.

DANNY LUND AND TRIANGLE GIRLS

They're Headlining Good Program at the Orpheum

"RAINBOW REVUE" PLEASURES

"Wings of Pride" Is Object Lesson For Girls

(BY ESTHER WAGNER)
THE program being shown at the Orpheum theatre for the last of this week is better than it was the first of the week—and that was a mighty entertaining show.
Danny Lund and his Triangle girls are still headlining the bill, offering "The Wings of Pride," a musical comedy with Danny himself as the chief comedian. It's a lot funnier than their first offering; the costuming of the "beautiful" chorus girls is much better. Julia Leighton as Mrs. Hopkins is a splendid character; her acting is one of the best things about the whole performance.
The Three Alex are regular thrillers, performing feats of strength and endurance beautifully. There have been many so-called "trapeze" performers here in the last season, but without a doubt, the Three Alex have them all beaten.
Weber, Beck and Frazer have one of the best acts I have seen at the local theatre. It's the usual pianologue number, but is above the average and the principles all have personality and originality.
Kelly and Day, in a little Scottish skit, are good of their kind, but there is nothing worthy of note about their entire performance.
Ritter and Reed offer a western comedy, dialogue, and old songs and jokes to entertain you. Nothing to excite you, one way or the other.
As a whole, tho, the bill is splendid. Have you seen the array of birdies out in the lobby? Mighty interesting.

"The Wings of Pride"
THOSE of you who really enjoy watching Olive Tell glide gracefully thru picture-plays will probably enjoy "The Wings of Pride."
"The Wings of Pride" is supposed to be an object lesson, girls. It would teach you:
Never let admiration and vanity go to your head.
Stay always on the straight road, no matter how inconvenient.
Men are fickle; watch out for them.
And several other things. The story is about a girl who, beautiful and care-free, had the world at her feet but who, in the end, finds true love on the straight and narrow path.
Miss Tell has a role peculiarly suited to her talents. She is at all times emotional, whether she is supposed to be or not, and in "The Wings of Pride" she has a chance to display her talent as an emotional actress.
The scenery and settings are fine. The cast, supporting the star, is competent and seem to know their business, and while many scenes are sensational, they couldn't offend anyone.
—THE RAINBOW REVIEW—
Just to call your attention to one member of the Rainbow Revue, appearing at the Lyric theatre. This is little Gertrude Hoffman, whom you will remember as the Oriental dancer in the revue. Miss Hoffman is a Cleveland girl, and has studied the Terpsichorean art under Madame Meselli, of New York, who, incidentally, is the teacher of the "other" Gertrude Hoffman.

Miss Hoffman is sweet and amusing, and the type one usually connects with Oriental dancers. She speaks French fluently and has a most engaging personality. Her sister, Miss Mae Hoffman, also appears in the revue and their one number together, "Sweetheart Blues," is exceptionally well done.
The dance in which Gertrude is featured has been described by this diminutive little star as "a combination of Hawaiian shimmy and the claquette, with many little movements that are all my own."
The Revue carries splendid costuming.

SHORT SHAVINGS

An attendant, perspiring freely from sundry trips to the flying field to carry gas and oil for the planes, had reached the end of his patience. Each trip he had been delayed by inquisitive persons who bombarded him with foolish questions. Now, 1-1,000, inclusive. Finally an old lady stopped him:

"Young man," she said, "what do you do when a machine gets up in the air and runs out of gasoline?"

"Confidentially, ma'am," he replied, "that's just what happened now. There's a couple of them stalled up there and we've got to take 'em gas up in the emergency balloon to take them down."

Griggs—When I don't catch the name of the person I've been introduced to, I ask if it's spelled with "e" or "i." It generally works, too.

Briggs—I used to try that dodge myself until I was introduced to a young lady at a party. When I put the question about the "e" or "i," she flushed angrily and wouldn't speak the whole evening.

"What was her name?"

"I found out later it was HILL."

An English clergyman's wife was at supper with a farmer and his family who lived in the parish.

"Some more 'am, father," said the son, passing his plate.

"Don't say 'am, boy; it's 'ah."

"I said 'am, father."

"Don't say 'am, boy; it's 'am."

"am."

Says Phosphate is What Thin Nervous People Need.

The organic phosphate (discovered by M. J. B. French, a scientist) which is known to druggists in this country as Bitro-Phosphate, and which is safe to take as well as inexpensive, is now being highly recommended by many physicians as a real strength builder and for nervousness and general run-down conditions. Scores of people all over the country have been benefited by this remedy. Keltner's Enterprise Drug Stores and all good druggists keep a supply of Bitro-Phosphate. Try it if you are not feeling up to good form.

Agony of Asthma

New Prescription Gives Instant Relief. Makes Breathing Easy.

Thousands of people suffer from Bronchitis or Bronchial Asthma, who, having tried advertised remedies, inhalers, "patent smokers," douches, doctors, changes in climates, etc., without permanent benefit believe nothing can ever make them well.

Extensive experiments finally enabled a Worcester, Mass., physician to find a simple, harmless treatment that gave almost immediate relief in even the most stubborn advanced cases and great numbers of former Asthmatics have now used his treatment with wonderful success.

The doctor's prescription is called Oxidaze and can be obtained from R. F. Vortkamp, Central Drug Co., Hunter's Drug Store and leading druggists everywhere, who sell it on a guarantee of money back on the first package if it fails to give prompt relief.

Many users who for years have been obliged to sit up in bed gasping for breath and unable to sleep report that they now take a dose of Oxidaze when going to bed and can then lie down and breathe easily and naturally and get a good night's restful sleep.

Oxidaze is a safe treatment, easy and pleasant to take and contains no harmful habit forming drugs.—Adv.

IF YOU HAD YOUR BLOOD TESTED TODAY

Your Physician Would Count the Red Corpuscles.

RED BLOOD MEANS HEALTH

Pepto-Mangan Recommended by Physicians as Red Blood Maker.

How would your blood stand a test today? If you feel run down, look pale, lack enthusiasm, your blood would show too few red corpuscles. Your blood would be weak. If you will take Pepto-Mangan every day for a few weeks the red corpuscles in your blood will increase in number and then you will look better. Your complexion will be better. Your natural good color will come back. You will feel so much better and stronger. Disease germs will be fought off.

It pays to keep your blood in good shape. Pepto-Mangan—that wonderful blood tonic—will help you do it. Pepto-Mangan is widely and heartily endorsed by physicians. It is effective and easy to take. You can buy it in either liquid or tablet form. The medicinal properties are the same.

Sold at any drug store. But be sure you get the genuine Pepto-Mangan—"Gude's." Ask for it by the name and be sure the full name—"Gude's Pepto-Mangan"—is on the package.
